And Then Things Fall Apart:

And Then Things Fall Apart Arlaina Tibensky, 2011-07-26 Keek's life was totally perfect. Keek and her boyfriend just had their Worst Fight Ever. Her best friend heinously betrayed her. Her parents are divorcing and her mom's across the country caring for her newborn cousin who may or may not make it home from the hospital. To top it all off, Keek's got the plague. Well, the chicken pox. Now she's holed up at her grandmother's technologically barren house until further notice. Not quite the summer vacation Keek had in mind. With only an old typewriter and Sylvia Plath's The Bell Jar for solace and guidance, Keek's alone with her swirling thoughts. But one thing's clear through her feverish haze: she's got to figure out why things went wrong so she can put them right.

Chinua Achebe and the Igbo-African World Chima J. Korieh, Ijeoma C. Nwajiaku, 2022-04-12 Chinua Achebe and the Igbo African World: Between Fiction, Fact, and Historical Representation explores Chinua Achebe's literary works and how they communicated the Igbo African world to readers. Engaging in the politics of representation, Achebe sought to demystify deterministic views of race and cultural ethnocentrism. While his books and commentaries have been very influential in shaping a unique and multifaceted view of the African world, some scholars have challenged Achebe's representations of historical reality. Through in-depth analyses of his writing, contributors examine the interpretations Achebe imposed on African culture and history in his texts. The chapters cover Achebe's engagement with critical issues like historical representation, gender relations, and indigenous political institutions in a changing society. Throughout, contributors present new ways for understanding Achebe's literary works and show how his work draws from African historical reality and identity while challenging Western epistemological hegemony.

Contemporary African Literature and the Politics of Gender Florence Stratton, 1994 The influence of colonialism and race on the development of African literature has been the subject of a number of studies. The effect of patriarchy and gender, however, and indeed the contributions of African women, have up until now been largely ignored by the critics. Contemporary African Literature and the Politics of Gender is the first extensive account of African literature from a feminist perspective. In this first radical and exciting work, Florence Stratton outlines the features of an emerging female tradition in African fiction. A chapter is dedicated to each of the works of four women writers: Grace Ogot, Flora Nwapa, Buchi Emecheta, and Mariama Ba. In addition, she provides challenging new readings of canonical male authors such as Chinua Achebe, Ngugi wa Thiong'o, and Wole Soyinka. Contemporary African Literature and the Politics of Gender thus provides the first truly comprehensive definition of the current literary tradition in Africa.

Things Fall Apart Chinua Achebe, 2009 The contemporary African writer's classic novel depicting the destruction of traditional tribal life by the white man.

Sacred Spaces and Public Quarrels Paul Tiyambe Zeleza, Ezekiel Kalipeni, 1999 How do Africans conceive space? How are places constructed and imagined? How do the conceptions/constructions/imaginings of spaces and places affect and in turn are affected by social, economic, and political change? These are some of the questions answered in this, the first book of its kind to address systematically the themes of
