Alexander, 2025 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations Intimate partner violence also known as domestic violence has threatened the health and safety of individuals throughout the history of human relationships While efforts by the criminal justice system to hold perpetrators accountable emerged in the last century scholarship and recognition of the short and long term impacts on the health and well being of victims and survivors is still a fairly recent development Intimate Partner Violence A Health Based Perspective provides comprehensive well cited information for researchers educators practitioners and policy leaders on the complex social and health threats of intimate partner violence Written by leading scholars in the field the chapters are organized around historical and policy perspectives social justice constructs trauma science health impacts intervention and prevention strategies This comprehensive guide informs both new inquiry and improved practice by professionals in the public health health care and social sciences and serves as a one stop resource for professionals who need evidence based insight and guidance Facing homelessness Stephan de Beer, Rehana Vally, 2022-02-10 In Facing homelessness Finding inclusionary collaborative solutions we face the other and in facing the other we face ourselves This book contributes to an emerging body of knowledge on street homelessness in the South African context It is meant for researchers and scholars who are committed to finding solutions for street homelessness It offers conceptual frameworks and practical guidelines for a liberating and transformative response to homelessness It brings together authors from a wide range of disciplines fusing the rigour of researchers the vision of activists and the lived experience of practitioners In this volume the causes of street homelessness in South Africa today and its different faces are traced. It critiques singular solutions and interrogates the political, institutional and moral failures that contribute to the systemic exclusion of homeless persons and other vulnerable populations from society. It proposes rights based interventions as part of a radical re-imagining of how street homelessness can be ended one person and one neighbourhood at a time. The analysis by the authors steers the direction of new ways of doing and being that could demonstrate concrete, viable and sustainable alternatives to the exclusionary realities faced by homeless persons. It argues for solution based approaches aimed at radical forms of social inclusion and achieved through broad based and creative collaborations by all spheres of society. In the face and presence of street homelessness as one expression of urban vulnerability and deep socio-economic inequality, society is confronted with a clear political, institutional, moral and personal obligation. This volume calls for a reclamation of community in its most inclusionary life affirming and interdependent sense, asserting that we truly are well because of others and we are unwell if others are. It is a call to reclaim our common humanity in the context of inclusive communities where all are equally welcome and bestowed with dignity and honour.

Reaffirming Juvenile Justice Alida V. Merlo, Peter J. Benekos, 2017-05-25. This book will expand students' understanding of the evolution of juvenile justice in the last 50 years. Designed to coincide with the 50th anniversary of the landmark case In re Gault which the Court decided in 1967, the authors frame the developments and transformations that have occurred in the intervening years. Topics covered include an overview of the dramatic changes to field following the spike youth violence in the 1990s, the superpredator myth and sanctions for juvenile offenders, particularly the 2005 abolition of the death penalty and subsequent decision on life without parole. The book also covers child and youth victimization and recent prevention and treatment initiatives.

Clinical Social Work Practice in Behavioral Mental Health Roberta G. Sands, 2001. This book provides an in-depth and very modern approach to clinical social work with clients in mental health settings. This is a revision of a book originally titled Clinical Social Work Practice in Community Mental Health. The community mental health approach is now dated and this revision features behavioral mental health which is a newer and postmodern approach. The postmodern perspective is client oriented and helps the practitioner to be aware of underlying biases. This perspective is explained in Chapter 1 and is included in every chapter by featuring clients' voices, particularly at the beginning and end of the chapters. Important new topics include managed care and measurement of outcomes, both of which are woven throughout and featured in Chapters 1, 4, 5, 8, 9, 10 and 13. For social work practitioners specializing in mental health.
