The Philosophy of Happiness Lorraine L. Besser, 2020-11-16 Emerging research on the subject of happiness in psychology, economics and public policy reawakens and breathes new life into long standing philosophical questions about happiness e.g. What is it? Can it really be measured or pursued? What is its relationship to morality? By analyzing this research from a philosophical perspective Lorraine L. Besser is able to weave together the contributions of other disciplines and the result is a robust, deeply contoured understanding of happiness made accessible for nonspecialists. This book is the first to thoroughly investigate the fundamental theoretical issues at play in all the major contemporary debates about happiness and it stands out especially in its critical analysis of empirical research. The book's coverage of the material is comprehensive without being overwhelming. Its structure and pedagogical features will benefit students or anyone studying happiness for the first time. Each chapter opens with an initial overview and ends with a summary and list of suggested readings

The North-western Monthly, 1896 School Violence Intervention Jane Close Conoley, Arnold P. Goldstein, 2004-07-26 This work offers effective intervention strategies for managing school violence. Opening with a range of perspectives on student aggression it provides a comprehensive view on practical interventions at the student, school and systems levels. Practitioners present empirically grounded strategies for an array of school settings and situations seeking to help readers make informed decisions about the approaches that would be most effective in their own environments. The first part of the text presents information on the nature and prevalence of youth violence today and outlines strategies geared toward making the school physically safer, establishing clear behaviour standards, providing adequate adult presence, enforcing rules fairly and sanctioning offenders and creating partnerships with outside agencies. The chapters that follow describe a range of interventions directed toward aggressive students themselves which have proved highly effective in outcome evaluation research. These approaches include behavioural classroom management crises and gang orientated interventions and preventative pre school programmes. In addition it details school orientated strategies such as academic and curriculum interventions, vandalism control and effective security policy. Exploring the complex relationship among school behaviour, family life and community chapters also consider avenues toward effecting change in the larger context of the students' lives. A hands on manual for dealing with some of the most intractable problems education professionals face this book offers extensive information for school psychologists and researchers.
