

Scientist 2 Asteroid

The object was a stony asteroid. As it entered Earth's atmosphere, its high speed created a large air pressure difference between the area just in front of the asteroid and the area just behind the asteroid. The large pressure difference eventually exceeded the structural strength of the asteroid. The asteroid flattened, decelerated rapidly due to the dramatic increase in its surface area, and fragmented before reaching the ground. This fragmentation may have occurred like an explosion. Calculations show that meteorites between 10 m and 100 m in diameter would not survive an air ride much higher than 8 km, but a stony asteroid that would fragment at or near an altitude of 10 km. Every fragment of the asteroid fragments would be small enough to burn up in the atmosphere. However, small fragments were observed to have survived to have solidified.

4

10. How would the behavior of the asteroid differ from that described in Scientist 2's viewpoint if the asteroid had not been flattened by the air pressure difference? The asteroid would:

- F. not have entered Earth's atmosphere.
- G. have struck another planet in the solar system.
- H. have decelerated more gradually.
- J. have frozen.

11. Which of the following statements would both scientists most likely use to explain the damage to the forest caused by the object's explosion? Energy from the explosion:

- A. traveled rapidly down to Earth's surface.
- B. dissipated in the upper atmosphere.
- C. was released less than 1 km above Earth's surface.
- D. was released as the object struck Earth's surface.

12. Scientist 1's view of the following:

- F. Comets are icy.
- G. Comets are stony.
- H. Comets often visit Earth's atmosphere.
- J. Comets orbit the Sun.
