Scarce Goods Tom Koch, 2001-11-30

In 1841 the American sailing ship William Brown struck an iceberg About half of the passengers and all of the crew were saved in two small open boats The next night half of the passengers in the larger long boat were thrown overboard because the boat was overfull This was the first case of lifeboat ethics of hard choices in the face of scarcity Since then the question has been who should die so that others equally needy might live Both the case of the William Brown and the ethics it spawned have been used in recent years to describe the problem of health care rationing generally and organ transplantation specifically Koch reexamines and reinterpretes the paradigm case of lifeboat ethics the story of the William Brown not as an unavoidable tragedy but as an avoidable series of errors Its relation to more general issues of distributive justice are then considered The lessons learned from both the historical review and its application to distributive principles are then applied to the problem of graft organ distribution in the United States Through the use of maps the problem of organ distribution is considered at a range of scales from the international to the urban The contextual issues become more evident as one moves from international to hemispheric from national to regional and then local systems Finally Koch reviews the lessons in light of other problems of distribution in the face of scarcity The central lesson that scarcity is exacerbated where it is not in fact created by our distributive programs is explored thoroughly The result is no good choices for anyone and the continuation of the scarcity that for most seems inevitable but from the evidence provided is itself an outcome of inequalities of distribution at different scales of society Of particular interest to students scholars and policymakers involved with issues of planning and health care economics medical geography and concepts of justice     Journal of Property Management ,1979     American Lumberman ,1914     The Plumbers Trade Journal ,1909     Domestic Engineering ,1914     Domestic Engineering and the Journal of Mechanical Contracting ,1921     The Druggists' Circular and Chemical Gazette ,1890 Includes Red book price list section title varies slightly issued semiannually 1897 1906     The Union Pacific Magazine ,1928 Employee magazine of the Union Pacific System     American Druggists' Circular and Chemical Gazette ,1889     El-Hi Textbooks & Serials in Print ,2005 ,2005     American Accountant ,1929     The Bricklayer, Mason and Plasterer ,1963
