Germany since Unification K. Larres, 2001-02-13 A decade after the fall of the Berlin Wall the collapse of the GDR and the end of the Cold War Germany has begun to cope with the political economic social and nationalistic challenges unification has posed to its institutions and way of life in both the western and eastern part of the once divided nation The books eleven authors all experts in their field analyse the way united Germany has tackled the many unforeseen problems and highlighted the gradually emerging short and long term patterns in Germany's slow adjustment to the new realities The country has not only become more populous and territorially bigger but also burdened with much underestimated problems particularly economic and social ones The emergence of a new economic political and perhaps military superstate as feared by many in 1990 has not materialised Instead Germany today is only just coping with the domestic and external challenges of unification The economic and social integration of the former East Germany into the Federal Republic has still not been completed and may take yet another ten to fifteen years The book is a timely and well researched effort by a team of outstanding experts to evaluate Germany's performance to date It gives the reader ample and well analysed information to comprehend the many challenges facing Germany and its European neighbours in the post Cold War world

Val Dean Rust,Diane Rust,1995 This study of the integration of East and West German education following the collapse of the German Democratic Republic in 1989 focuses on policy formation and implementation during this period of great social and political turbulence It is the result of a research project undertaken shortly after the unification The authors lived in East Germany for a full year looking carefully at individual schools vocational training centers teacher colleges and universities They asked macro analytic questions What are the conditions in which educational policy is successfully formulated How is this educational policy implemented What are the consequences of this policy From the start West Germany demanded a complete dismantling of the educational system in the former German Democratic Republic West German political leaders insisted as a condition of unification that all important agreements concerning education made by the GDR states be accepted by the new states The authors research shows that even before the unification East Germans had already opted for a system consistent with West German education law However the West Germans disregarded these changes and imposed their own version of reform on East Germany The study reveals that in this period of confusion the East Germans did not fully analyze the implications of the imposed conditions which now have unforeseen negative consequences The German situation is of great interest to all educators particularly students of educational policy making as well as researchers in political science economics and sociology Antisemitism and Xenophobia in Germany after Unification
