IN-TEXT CITATION is used to identify your source of information, whether quoted or paraphrased, within your paper. It is brief information, referring the reader to your reference list. Include the author(s) last name (unless it appears in the narrative) and the date. For quotations, include the page number, or for electronic (online) articles without page numbers, use a brief section title and paragraph number. Here are a few examples:

Quotations -- with pages: "Our culture is full of simpleminded myths of blame" (Sher, 1994, p. 45).

-- online article, no pages: "Empirical studies have found mixed results" (Golan & Kuchler, 2007, "Conclusions," para. 4).

One author: Pagels (1995) discussed ... Two authors: Juedes and Curry (1999) concluded...
OR (Pagels, 1995) OR (Juedes & Curry, 1999)

Three to five authors – first citation: Smiler, Kay, and Harris (2008) examined the history...

-- more references to the same source (first author followed by et al.):
Smiler et al. (2008) found...

Six or more authors: The first author followed by et al for all citations. If there is more than one article with the same lead author, see the manual for directions.

Multiple works cited together: List alphabetically by first author.

Several studies (Balda, 1995; Kamil, 1988; Pepperberg & Funk, 1990)...

Personal Communications (e.g., e-mail, personal interviews): These are included for in-text citations, but are not included in the reference list because they are not recoverable.

...as described by R. Gerstner (personal communication, November 12, 2001).

Secondary Source (use sparingly): The secondary source, Claiborne, is the one included in the reference list.

Understanding Research in Clinical and Counseling Psychology Jay C. Thomas, Michel Hersen, 2003-02-26

Understanding Research in Clinical and Counseling Psychology is a unique text because it is designed and written for the graduate students aspiring to careers in practice rather than in psychological science who are the vast majority in clinical and counseling programs To motivate readers to see the value of knowledge produced by research the book opens with an actual case report that shows how research generated strategies incorporated into treatment allowed a woman who formerly would have been considered so hopelessly incapacitated by obsessive compulsive disorder as to require lifetime institutionalization if not neurosurgery to return to normal family and work life The first set of chapters introduces fundamental concepts of measurement sampling and validity The next set systematically presents the kinds of investigations most relevant to budding practitioners group comparisons correlations single subject designs program evaluations and meta analyses Each of these chapters concludes with a detailed example of a study in which students can see how the techniques described are actually employed The third set addresses enduring concerns how to define and maintain ethical standards how to do effective literature reviews and assess the quality of existing data and how to collect and analyze data It also addresses concerns that have emerged recently how to distinguish and judge effective and efficacious treatments and how to contribute to research efforts as a private practitioner The issues involved in the often confusing effectiveness versus efficacy debate are illuminated with a clinically relevant case example Descriptions of alternatives to conventional significance testing such as clinical significance and reliable change analyses help students consider new ways in which they can impose rigor on their own research and practice activities Two final chapters examine the challenges of studying two special groups children and older adults Throughout the authors all capable researchers who are also experienced practitioners demonstrate the ways in which research is an essential foundation for effective and ethical practice Students and instructors alike will welcome this reader friendly book
