

KEY NOTES ON PROTEINS

- 4 structures [primary, secondary, tertiary, and quaternary]
- Central dogma
- Transcription- first stage used to determine template strand
- Translation- second stage the process of converting DNA to RNA

DNA → RNA → PROTEIN

- Genome is all the DNA present in an organism
- 3 stages of transcription
- In Eukaryotes DNA is found within a membrane bound nucleus
- In Prokaryotes the DNA is found within the cytoplasm because it lacks the membrane surrounding the nuclei
- Protein production in prokaryotes occurs before the mRNA has been completely transcribed

EUKARYOTIC RNA PROCESSING

[Pre mRNA must be processed before they are transported from the nucleus to the cytoplasm]

How are Eukaryotic RNA modified? (3 different ways)

- A nucleotide cap is added to the 5' end that helps prevent it from degrading and helps to promote translation into the cytoplasm
- Enzymes also add a long string of adenines to the 3' end known as the poly-a-tail
- Some sequences in the middle of the mRNA are removed

Eukaryotic genes of mRNA contain introns and exons

- If introns are not removed, then the protein that is produced from translation will be incorrect and not properly function
- The process of removing introns and joining exons is called mRNA splicing

Once the 5' cap has been added and the poly-a-tail has been added and the introns are removed, and exons are joined then the mRNA can be exported into the cytoplasm for translation

Commented [MD 1]: unique sequence of a polypeptide chain

Commented [MD 2]: describes how parts of the polypeptide chain can fold

Commented [MD 3]: three dimensional structure of a polypeptide chain

Commented [MD 4]: where some proteins are often found to be associated with each other

Commented [MD 5]: The flow of information from DNA to that to proteins

Commented [MD 6]: strand of DNA is used as a template to produce a complementary RNA strand

Commented [MD 7]: to produce proteins composed of amino acids bonded together in a specific sequence

Commented [MD 8]: initiation, elongation, and termination

Commented [MD 9]: in eukaryotes, intron molecules produced by transcription

Commented [MD 10]: helps to protect the mRNA from degradation and signals to the cell that the molecules need to be transported out of the nucleus

Commented [MD 11]: do not code for amino acids and must be removed before translation

Commented [MD 12]: contains information that tells a cell which amino acids should be joined to make a protein during translation

Commented [MD 13]: carried out by a large protein complex in the nucleus called the spliceosome
