The Angela Y. Davis Reader Joy James,1998-12-10 For three decades Angela Y Davis has written on liberation theory and democratic praxis Challenging the foundations of mainstream discourse her analyses of culture gender capital and race have profoundly influenced democratic theory antiracist feminism critical studies and political struggles Even for readers who primarily know her as a revolutionary of the late 1960s and early 1970s or as a political icon for militant activism she has greatly expanded the scope and range of social philosophy and political theory Expanding critical theory contemporary progressive theorists engaged in justice struggles will find their thought influenced by the liberation praxis of Angela Y Davis The Angela Y Davis Reader presents eighteen essays from her writings and interviews which have appeared in If They Come in the Morning Women Race and Class Women Culture and Politics and

Black Women and the Blues as well as articles published in women's ethnic black studies and communist journals and cultural studies anthologies. In four parts Prisons, Repression and Resistance, Marxism, Anti Racism and Feminism, Aesthetics and Culture, and recent interviews, Davis examines revolutionary politics and intellectualism. Davis's discourse chronicles progressive political movements and social philosophy. Contextualizing Angela Davis Joy James, 2023-12-28. Angela Davis is iconic as an international figure, but few recognize the educational, political, and ideological contexts that formed the public persona. Excavating layers of networks, activists, academics, polemicists, and funders across the ideological spectrum, Joy James studies the paradigms and platforms that leveraged Angela Davis into recognition as an activist and radical intellectual. Beginning in Alabama in 1944 with Davis's birthplace and ending in California in 1970 with a surrogate political family, James investigates context in order to better understand the agency and identity of Davis. Her chronology marks key events relevant to Davis, Black communities, and the US AntiBlack repression under Jim Crow. Black bourgeois southern families, revolutionaries, elite education, communist parties, international travels, undergrad and graduate schooling all interconnect and play a part in Davis's rise in stature from persecution as a UC graduate student to the UC Presidential chair some three decades later. Set against the backdrop of 21st century US democracy and the rise of neofascists, James highlights the centrality of those considered ancillary to US liberation movements. She unpacks the contradictions of iconography and revolutionary agency and shows how a triumphal figure from a symbolic era of struggle became the icon of the rare peoples' victory.

When Angela Davis, b. 1944, was placed on the FBI's Ten Most Wanted list in 1970 and after she successfully gained acquittal in the 1972 trial that garnered national and international attention, she became one of the most recognizable and iconic figures in the twentieth century. An outspoken advocate for the oppressed and exploited, she has written extensively about the intersections between race, class, and gender. Black liberation and the US prison system. Conversations with Angela Davis seeks to explore Davis's role as an educator, scholar, and activist who continues to engage in important and significant social justice work. Featuring seventeen interviews ranging from the 1970s to the present day, the volume chronicles Davis's life and her involvement with and influence on important and significant historical and cultural events. Davis comments on a range of topics relevant to social, economic, and political issues from national and international contexts, and taken together, the interviews explore how her views have evolved over the past several decades. The volume provides insight on Davis's relationships with such organizations as the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, the Communist Party, the Green Party, and Critical Resistance, and how Davis has fought for racial, gender, and social and economic equality in the US and abroad. Conversations with Angela Davis also addresses her ongoing work in the prison abolition movement.

Angela Davis J. A. Parker, 1973 African American Autobiographers

Emmanuel S. Nelson, 2002-03-30 There is growing popular and scholarly interest in autobiography along with increasing regard for the achievements of African American writers. The first reference of its kind this volume chronicles the autobiographical tradition in African American literature. Included are alphabetically arranged entries for 66 African American authors who present autobiographical material in their works. The volume profiles major figures such as Frederick Douglass Zora Neale Hurston Richard Wright Maya Angelou James Baldwin and Malcolm X along with many lesser known autobiographers who deserve greater attention. While some are known primarily for their literary accomplishments others have gained acclaim for their diverse contributions to society. The entries are written by expert contributors and provide authoritative information about their subjects. Each begins with a concise biography which summarizes the life and achievements of the autobiographer. This is followed by a discussion of major autobiographical works and themes along with an overview of the autobiographer's critical reception. The entries close with primary and secondary bibliographies and a selected general bibliography concludes the volume. Together the entries provide a detailed portrait of the African American autobiographical tradition from the 18th century to the present
