Animals At Table Ian Robertson:

The Legal Recognition of Animal Sentience Jane Kotzmann, M B Rodriguez Ferrere, 2024-05-30 This book explores the movement towards the recognition of animal sentience in the law. It explores some first principles underpinning the recognition of animal sentience including the nature and scope of sentience provisions, the connection between sentience and empathy, drafting issues, and the relationship between sentience recognition and animal rights. The book highlights the operation of animal sentience provisions in several jurisdictions throughout the world and considers some sector specific applications and limitations of animal sentience recognition. The first book of its kind, it draws together different perspectives as to what this novel turn in the law might mean and where it might lead. The chapters provide a full picture of what the recognition of animal sentience might entail for humans, animals, and our environment, as well as the experiences of different legal jurisdictions in pursuing recognition of animal sentience. This collection is an essential read for both practitioners and academics alike, as well as any group seeking to advance the interests of non-human animals. Gathering Hopewell

Christopher Carr, D. Troy Case, 2005-07-25 Among the most socially and personally vocal archaeological remains on the North American continent are the massive and often complexly designed earthen architecture of Hopewellian peoples of two thousand years ago: their elaborately embellished works of art made of glistening metals and stones from faraway places and their highly formalized mortuaries. In this book, twenty-one researchers, in interwoven efforts, immerse themselves and the reader in this vibrant archaeological record in order to richly reconstruct the societies, rituals, and ritual interactions of Hopewellian peoples. By finding the faces, actions, and motivations of Hopewellian peoples as individuals who constructed knowable social roles, the authors explore in a personalized and locally contextualized manner the details of Hopewellian life: leadership, its sacred and secular power bases, recruitment and formalization over time, systems of social ranking and prestige, animal totemic clan organization, kinship structures and sodalities, gender roles, prestige work load, and health. Community organization in its tri-scalar, residential, symbolic, and demographic forms, intercommunity alliances, and changes in their strategies and expanses over time and interregional travels for power, questing, pilgrimage, healing, tutelage, and acquiring ritual knowledge. This book is useful to scholars, graduate students, and advanced undergraduates interested in the workings and development of social complexity at local and interregional scales, recent theoretical developments in the anthropology of the topics listed above, the prehistory of eastern North America, its history of intellectual development, and Native American ritual symbolism and belief.
