Animate Earth Stephan Harding, 2009-03-05 An exciting exploration into how Gaian science can help us to develop a sense of connectedness with the more than human world Written by ecologist Stephan Harding Animate Earth argues that we need to establish the right relationship with the planet as a living entity in which we are indissolubly embedded and to which we are all accountable Now in its second edition this fascinating book includes a new chapter on fungi contemplative exercises and an update on the global climate situation Stephan s work is based on careful integration of rational scientific analysis with our intuition sensing and feeling a vitally important task at this time of severe ecological and climate crisis He replaces the cold objectifying language of science with a way of speaking of our planet as a sentient living being rather than as a dead inert mechanism Chemical reactions for instance are described using human metaphors such as marriage to bring personality back into the world of rocks atmosphere water and living things In this sense the book is a contemporary attempt to rediscover anima mundi the soul of the world through Gaian science whilst assuming no prior knowledge of science Discover what it means to live as harmoniously as possible within a sentient creature of planetary proportions with this inspiring read

Resurgence ,2006 The Barbarian Principle Jason M. Wirth, Patrick Burke, 2013-09-01 Essays exploring a rich intersection between phenomenology and idealism with contemporary relevance Toward the end of his life Maurice Merleau Ponty made a striking retrieval of F W J Schelling s philosophy of nature The Barbarian Principle explores the relationship between these two thinkers on this topic opening up a dialogue with contemporary philosophical and ecological significance that will be of special interest to philosophers working in phenomenology and German idealism Witnessing a Wounded World Timothy Middleton, 2025-11-04 A crucial intervention at the intersection of ecotheology and trauma theology We are in the midst of a global ecological crisis At times the scale of the suffering involved can be hard to fully comprehend The whole planetary ecosystem feels out of kilter Meanwhile trauma theorists and society at large have become increasingly aware of the incidence of trauma in a growing variety of contexts In Witnessing a Wounded World Timothy Middleton asks what might be gained by viewing ecological suffering through the lens of trauma By bringing concepts and methodologies from trauma theology to bear on questions that arise within ecotheology Middleton engages a series of pressing questions

What kind of traumas are being precipitated by anthropogenic climate change and accelerating biodiversity loss What would it mean to envisage the Earth itself as traumatized And how might a Christian theologian respond From large scale deforestation and opencast mining to rampaging wildfires and fracturing ice sheets the Earth itself is subject to intense devastation Witnessing a Wounded World analyzes such phenomena in terms of three traumatic ruptures to communication to flesh and to time Drawing on practices of witnessing and the insights of deep incarnation Christologies Middleton proceeds to offer a theological account of this ecological trauma For Christians a model of Christic witnessing can bring the Earth s suffering to light As the first sustained treatment of ecological trauma to address the trauma of the Earth itself Witnessing a Wounded World makes a profound contribution to discussions of suffering faith and the present ecological emergency
