Bodyspace Destabilising Geographies Of Gender And Sexuality:

BodySpace Nancy Duncan, 1996-09-05 BodySpace brings together some of the best known geographers writing on gender and sexuality today. Together they explore the role of space and place in the performance of gender and sexuality. The book takes a broad perspective on feminism as a theoretical critique and aims to ground and destabilize notions of citizenship, work, violence, race and disability in their geographical contexts. The book explores the idea of knowledge as embodied, engendered and embedded in place and space. Gender and sexuality are explored and destabilized through the methodological and conceptual lenses of cartography, fieldwork, resistance, transgression and the divisions between local, global and public private space. Contributors: Linda Martin Alcoff, Kay Anderson, Vera Chouinard, Nancy Duncan, J K Gibson, Graham Ali, Grant Kathleen, Kirby Audrey, Kobayashi Doreen, Massey Linda, McDowell Wayne, Myslik Heidi, Nast Gillian, Rose Joanne, Sharp Matthew, Sparke Gill, Valentine.

Performativity, Politics, and the Production of Social Space Michael R. Glass, Reuben Rose-Redwood, 2014-01-10 Theories of performativity have garnered considerable attention within the social sciences and humanities over the past two decades. At the same time there has also been a growing recognition that the social production of space is fundamental to assertions of political authority and the practices of everyday life. However, comparatively little scholarship has explored the full implications that arise from the confluence of these two streams of social and political thought. This is the first book length edited collection devoted explicitly to showcasing geographical scholarship on the spatial politics of performativity. It offers a timely intervention within the field of critical human geography by exploring the performativity of political spaces and the spatiality of performative politics. Through a series of geographical case studies the contributors to this volume consider the ways in which a performative conception of the political might reshape our understanding of sovereignty, political subjectification and the production of social space. Marking the 20th anniversary of the publication of Judith Butler's classic Bodies That Matter 1993 this edited volume brings together a range of contemporary geographical works that draw exciting new connections between performativity, space and politics.

Gender and Leisure Cara Carmichael Aitchison, 2013-06-17 The highly contested nature of both gender and leisure encapsulates many of the most critical social and cultural debates of the early twenty first century. Drawing on a wide range of theoretical perspectives as well as extensive empirical research, Gender and Leisure goes forward to offer a contemporary socio cultural analysis of gender relations in leisure practice and leisure policy. The book begins by introducing and evaluating the key social and cultural ideologies, philosophies and beliefs that have informed our theoretical understanding of gender and leisure. The particular leisure policies that have emerged from these perspectives are examined. Part two of Gender and Leisure draws on research in social and cultural theory, gender and leisure studies, cultural geography, management and education and goes on to explore the reality of contemporary gender relations in leisure practice. Leisure policy, leisure management, places and sites of leisure and leisure education are examined as are the relationships between leisure sport and tourism Key Concepts in Historical Geography John Morrissey, David Nally, Ulf Strohmayer, Yvonne Whelan, 2014-02-17 This ambitious volume reviews the best recent work in historical geography. It demonstrates how a dual sense of history and geography is necessary to understand such key areas of contemporary debate as the inter-relationship between class, race and gender; the character of nations and nationalism; the nature and challenges of urban life; the legacies of colonialism and the meaning and values attributed to places, landscapes and environments. Mike Heffernan, University of Nottingham. Key Concepts in Historical Geography forms part of an innovative set of companion texts for the Human Geography sub-disciplines. Organized around 24 short essays, it provides a cutting-edge introduction to the central concepts that define contemporary research in Historical Geography. Involving detailed and expansive discussions, the book includes An introductory chapter providing a succinct overview of the recent developments in the field; 24 key concepts entries with comprehensive explanations, definitions and evolutions of the subject; Pedagogic features that enhance understanding, including a glossary, figures, diagrams and further reading. Key Concepts in Historical Geography is an ideal companion text for upper-level undergraduate and postgraduate students and covers the expected staples from the discipline from people, space and place to colonialism and geopolitics in an accessible style. Written by an internationally recognized set of authors, it is an essential addition to any human geography student's library.
