Body Knowledge And Curriculum Pedagogies Of Touch In Youth And Visual Culture:

Body Knowledge and Curriculum Stephanie Springgay, 2008 Body Knowledge and Curriculum examines student understandings of body knowledge in the context of creating and interrogating visual art and culture. It illustrates a six month research study conducted in an alternative secondary school in a large urban city. During the research project students created a number of visual art works using a diversity of material explorations as a means to think through the body as a process of exchange and as a bodied encounter. The book engages with feminist theories of touch and inter embodiment questioning the materiality and lived experiences of the body in knowledge production in order to provoke different ways of theorizing self other relations in teaching and learning. This volume is important because it explores the ways in which youth understand the complex textured and often contradictory discourses of body knowledge and seeks to intentionally create alternative pedagogical and curricular practices to ones that subscribe to a healthy body model. Additionally enacting educational research as living inquiry this book is an exemplar of the arts based methodology a r tography Body Knowledge and Curriculum is a valuable text for courses in curriculum theory art education qualitative research methodologies visual culture and pedagogies and feminist theory. Appropriate for advanced undergraduate students pre service teacher education students and graduate students the book provides an interdisciplinary investigation into body research Feltness

Stephanie Springgay, 2022-09-23 Stephanie Springgay's concept of feltness which emerges from affect theory queer and feminist theory and feminist conceptions of more than human entanglements is a set of intimate practices of creating art based on touch affect relationality love and responsibility. In this book she explores how feltness is a radical pedagogy that can be practiced with diverse publics including children who are often left out of conversations about who can learn in radical ways. Springgay examines the results of a decade long project in which researchers artists students and teachers participated in events in North American elementary secondary and postsecondary institutions. In projects that ranged from children learning to be critics and artists to university students experimenting with building a public through art participants blended participatory art creation with academic research to address social justice issues. Springgay shows how feltness can redefine who is imagined to be capable of complex feeling experiential learning embodied practice social engagement and intimate care. In this way feltness fosters learning that disrupts and defamiliarizes schools and institutions knowledge systems values and the legibility of art and research.

Handbook of Public Pedagogy Jennifer A. Sandlin, Brian D. Schultz, Jake Burdick, 2010-07-29 Bringing together scholars public intellectuals and activists from across the field of education the Handbook of Public Pedagogy explores and maps the terrain of this burgeoning field. For the first time in one comprehensive volume readers will be able to learn about the history and scope of the concept and practices of public pedagogy. What is public pedagogy? What theories research aims and values inform it? What does it look like in practice? Offering a wide range of differing even diverging perspectives on how the public might operate as a pedagogical agent this

Handbook provides new ways of understanding educational practice both within and without schools It implores teachers researchers and theorists to reconsider their foundational understanding of what counts as pedagogy and of how and where the process of education occurs The questions it raises and the critical analyses they require provide curriculum and educational workers and scholars at large with new ways of understanding educational practice both within and without schools

Posthumanism and Educational Research Nathan Snaza, John Weaver, 2014-09-25 Focusing on the interdependence between human animal and machine posthumanism redefines the meaning of the human being previously assumed in knowledge production This movement challenges some of the most foundational concepts in educational theory and has implications within educational research curriculum design and pedagogical interactions In this volume a group of international contributors use posthumanist theory to present new modes of institutional collaboration and pedagogical practice They position posthumanism as a comprehensive theoretical project with connections to philosophy animal studies environmentalism feminism biology queer theory and cognition Researchers and scholars in curriculum studies and philosophy of education will benefit from the new research agendas presented by posthumanism

Pedagogical Encounters Bronwyn Davies, Susanne Gannon, 2009 Pedagogical Encounters demonstrates how learning spaces that are ethical responsive and transformable can enable students and teachers to open toward new ways of being in the world Through collective biography ethnography and arts based research the authors educators with experience in diverse settings generate rich descriptions of classroom practices and elaborate and clarify new theoretical concepts through their discussion in relation to specific sites of teaching and learning

Social Justice and the Arts LeeAnne Bell, 2017-07-05 This book explores the relationship between social justice practices and the Arts in Education It argues that social justice practices at their best should awaken our senses and the ability to imagine alternatives that can sustain the collective work necessary to challenge entrenched patterns and practices Chapters display a range of arts based pedagogies for challenging oppressive practices in schools community centers and other public sites The examples provided illustrate both the promise and on going challenge of enacting arts based social justice practices that can transform consciousness and organize action toward justice and social change They show the power of arts based pedagogies to engage the imagination reveal invisible operations of power and privilege provoke critical reflection and spark alternative images and possibilities They also show the importance of on going critical reflection for this work with attention to both the specificities of place and the obstacles internal and external to maintaining a social justice stance in the face of contemporary neoliberal discourses This book was originally published as a special issue of Equity Excellence in Education
