Fazio, Lawrence Wodehouse, Marian Moffett, 2018      The Writers Directory, 2013      The Library Development Review, 2009      Norfolk: Through Time Amy Waters Yarsinske, 2015 Photographs chosen for this volume are testament to the power of a picture is worth a thousand words Each photograph tells a story of Norfolk through time starting with the city center the downtown before going down to the river revisiting the significance of the streetcar and the horseless carriage on the city s development moving into the wards and finally a journey to the Chesapeake Bay on the city s north shore In this fascinating selection of photographs Amy Waters Yarsinske traces some of the many ways in which Norfolk has changed and developed over the last century With over three centuries of rich history and with so little intact of the city s historic built environment photographs are a priceless record of Norfolk the sunrise city by the sea      Landscape of Transformations

Michael W. Fazio, 2010 Landscape of Transformations presents a history of Birmingham's built environment and chronicles the development of the city as it became the dominant industrial powerhouse of the South during the nineteenth century and well into the twentieth. This is a work of broad cultural interpretation integrating industrial and commercial architecture, planned subdivision development and the housing of the urban poor while emphasizing the city's many transformations. In an unusual approach, Michael W. Fazio interprets the human constructions and natural landscapes of Birmingham as his text, a medium in which society has not only located and contained itself but also encoded its values for subsequent generations. Fazio allows this landscape to speak openly, sometimes eloquently and even tragically, about historical events. For example, on the civil rights struggle, rather than delving exclusively into political machinations and social structure, the author considers some of the city's most important civil rights developments through their physical contexts: the buildings, streets, and landscapes where they took place and looks for meaning in them. In addition, Fazio traces the history of Birmingham through the events, circumstances, and personalities that have shaped the city. The book begins with an exploration of the preindustrial landscape, continues with a look at the development of the iron and steel industries, and culminates with an analysis of the planning developments that produced the University of Alabama in Birmingham and its medical center, which replaced declining heavy industry as foundations of the local economy. Richly illustrated with black and white and color photographs, maps, and drawings, Landscape of Transformations is one of the few studies to focus on industrial cities of the heartland. Architectural historians, urban planners, and historic preservationists will be fascinated by this profound story of coal, iron, architecture, and the people behind the emerging personality of a leading southern city. Michael W. Fazio is professor emeritus in the School of Architecture at Mississippi State University. He is coauthor of Buildings Across Time: An Introduction to World Architecture and The Domestic Architecture of Benjamin Henry Latrobe. Sustainable Building 2000, 22-25

October 2000, Maastricht, The Netherlands Chiel Boonstra, Ronald Rovers, Susanne Pauwels, 2000 Over Time Ben Hatfield, 2008 Adrian Hatfield was one of many happy veterans returning to Palo Alto after World War II, but this flying ace and Stanford student class of 1938 would spend the next 33 years photographing every inch of Palo Alto and vicinity. Presented here for the first time in published form is the aerial photography of Adrian Hatfield, founder of Hatfield Aerial Survey, in 1947. The astounding visual archives that he created during his long career document the evolution of a small town surrounded by dairies, farms, and apricot orchards to a tech industry giant that finds its roots firmly attached to Stanford University. Working closely with developers such as Joseph Eichler, Hatfield witnessed, recorded, and helped build the community that is Palo Alto today. Architecture Barnabas Calder, 2021-07-01 A groundbreaking history of architecture told through the relationship between buildings and energy. The story of architecture is the story of humanity. The buildings we live in, from the humblest prehistoric huts to today's skyscrapers, reveal our priorities and ambitions, our family structures and power structures. And to an extent that hasn't been explored until now, architecture has been shaped in every era by our access to energy from fire to farming to fossil fuels In this ground breaking history of world architecture Barnabas Calder takes us on a dazzling tour of some of the most astonishing buildings of the past fifteen thousand years from Uruk via Ancient Rome and Victorian Liverpool to China's booming megacities He reveals how every building from the Parthenon to the Great Mosque of Damascus to a typical Georgian house was influenced by the energy available to its architects and why this matters Today architecture consumes so much energy that 40% of the world's greenhouse gas emissions come from the construction and running of buildings If we are to avoid catastrophic climate change then now more than ever we need beautiful but also intelligent buildings and to retrofit not demolish those that remain Both a celebration of human ingenuity and a passionate call for greater sustainability this is a history of architecture for our times
