Aging And Chronic Disorders:

Aging and Chronic Disorders Stephen J. Morewitz, Mark L. Goldstein, 2007-05-11 Aging and Chronic Disease provides new perspectives on how aging is affected by chronic disease. The book focuses on how chronic disorders such as diabetes, arthritis, cardiovascular disease, and cancer influence stress, coping, and quality of life among older adults. The book emphasizes how management of risk factors for chronic diseases, new treatment and rehabilitation outcomes, social support, and patient education can reduce health care costs and improve coping strategies, quality of life, and longevity of older adults. Covering a wide range of topics from health care disparities, costs, new trends in disease risk factors, cognitive changes in older adults, and disability outcomes, this book will be relevant to a wide range of professionals and students in the fields of gerontology, public health, mental health, social work, health administration, and social sciences. Human Aging and Chronic Disease Cary Steven Kart, Eileen K. Metress, Seamus P. Metress, 1992. Successful Aging and Adaptation with Chronic Diseases Betsy M. Sprouse, Sarah H. Gueldner, Leonard W. Poon, 2003-05-06 For many people growing old means facing one or more chronic diseases. Successful Aging and Adaptation with Chronic Diseases reviews, coalesces, and expands what we know about how older adults successfully experience the aging process and how they feel about and live with chronic illnesses. Questions considered include: How do older adults approach and deal with everyday life when affected by multiple health problems? What kind of impact do they feel diseases have on their successful aging? How do existent models and theories of coping address these issues? Presenting research funded by the AARP Andrus Foundation, this book brings together contributions by originators in the field, including Robert Kahn and Ann Whall. This volume is sure to be a seminal reference point for future research. Detection and Prevention of Chronic Disease Utilizing Multiphasic Health Screening Techniques United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging. Subcommittee on Health of the Elderly, 1966. Aging, Health, and Behavior Marcia G. Ory, Ronald P. Abeles, Paula D. Lipman, 1992 Drawing from both European and North American experiences, this volume presents basic and applied research on ageing, health, and behaviour. It points out the important role of individual behaviours, societal conditions, and public policies for determining the health of older people today and in the future. The contributors explore the influence of age and ethnicity on health and behaviour, coping with chronic illness and disability, the effect of stress on illness, disease prevention, and health promotion, and the implications for public policy. Aging and Chronic Disorders (2007). , Aging Invisibly , 2024-09-16 Statistical data suggest that many people with chronic health conditions pass away at much younger ages than their peers. Yet large quantitative datasets that address aging with chronic illness often do not capture the diversity of people with chronic diseases and their experiences of growing older. The assumptions built into many core data resources on aging often erase the journeys of people occupying marginalized social locations. Likewise, these same assumptions can result in omission of people who survive for long amounts of time while managing conditions with relatively short median life expectancies. These barriers to understanding diverse experiences of aging with chronic illness are endemic but not unique to quantitative research Qualitative data collection can indeed offer richer insight into both of these intersecting sets of aging experiences However even more in depth approaches to inquiry with smaller groups of people require asking questions that explicitly explore and affirm the diversity of identities and health statuses held by older adults A more constructive and impactful approach to capturing meaningful data on diverse experiences of aging with chronic disease is thus to focus on affirming study architecture rather than viewing one particular set of methods as a panacea for exclusion With this new edited volume the editors support the broader goal of expanding knowledge on diverse trajectories of aging with chronic health conditions Contributed chapters range from critical reviews to methods primers to empirical investigations The authors focus synergistically on amplifying the attributes and experiences of diverse social populations and on highlighting journeys of longevity with chronic disease Contributors are Nicholas B DiCarlo Angela Hunt Ian M Johnson Nat Jones Kristen D Krause Nik M Lampe Ginny Natale Audria LB Kirsten Ostergren Clark Manacy Pai Michele Wise Wright and Terry Gene Wright
