An analyses of the most innovative platforms from China and the USA Eileen-Natalie Gerlach, 2022-01-31 Master's Thesis from the year 2021 in the subject Economics Innovation economics grade 1 1 University of applied sciences Munich language English abstract This thesis analyses the most innovative platforms from China and the United States of America in order to provide the key success factors through internal organisation and external cooperation The findings are concluded in a role model for digital innovation and an innovation scorecard that helps to compare the innovation level of a company in electronic markets with its competition In digital markets the level of innovation as well as state of the art technologies are massively influencing the success of companies Here innovation takes place on two different levels first it describes the transformation of incumbent companies towards a digital platform and second it depicts the innovative pressure within the highly competitive environment of native

digital platforms such as Google or Alibaba that must constantly and fast evolve in order to maintain their leadership position In the native platform segment innovation is mostly achieved with business cooperation in order to gain technological knowledge whereas innovation relating to incumbents mostly deals with an internal reorganisation of existing structures that is often very individual and varies from company to company Strategic analysis of Mobike's business model in China and its applicability in Germany Marko Francesevic, Marco Schuster, 2019-06-11 Seminar paper from the year 2017 in the subject Business economics Company formation Business Plans grade 1 0 Copenhagen Business School language English abstract Innovative and resource saving mobility offers are needed in times of urbanization climate change and an increasing scarcity of resources Car2Go and BlaBlaCar are some of those companies that disrupted the traditional mobility market over the last years Another example is the Chinese bike rental company Mobike which provides users with flexible on demand and nearby access to mobility through a large fleet of bicycles that are distributed across the largest cities in China The company s usage of the newest IoT Internet of Things technologies and a large amount of funding have resulted in a massive expansion across China Singapore and just very recently UK in just 1 5 years It also resulted in a replacement of traditional transport modes such as the car as the primary mode of transportation Thus one can say that Mobike and its many competitors help to transform Chinese megacities in a less polluted and more liveable area All of those mobility disruptors named before are based on the principle of sharing economy Its most important characteristics are access over ownership and collaborative consumption Recent social demographic and political changes in Germany have made mobility schemes based on the sharing economy a potential option to traditional transport modes As climate change and the resulting need to lower emissions is not only a Chinese issue but a global one it is only fair to ask whether the business model of Mobike can be applied in the German market Hence this paper aims to answer the following question Is the business model of Mobike applicable in the German market
