University Mainz language English abstract The filming of Bret Easton Ellis bestseller novel American Psycho caused a major scandal after its publication in 2000 Lee Brien It covers the story of the serial killer Patrick Bateman who enjoys a good reputation everywhere in Manhattan Bateman is a young athletic handsome successful and stereotypical 1980s yuppie who you are able to see in magazines journals advertising for Calvin Klein or Hugo Boss and on Wall Street On the other hand he murders rapes tortures mutilates and cannibalizes his victims but his cruel acts remain undetected At first sight Patrick's behavior seems very irritating because he neither provides the audience with any reasons for his murders nor with any psychological insight into his character to justify his actions Taking a closer look his behavior and violence are an expression of the materialistic superficial nature of the American society to which Bateman wants to belong and into which his sickness and inhumanity do actually fit Horsley 222 Although a lot of Bateman's brutal actions are shown at the end of the movie the audience comes to question if all these murders really happened because some inconsistencies in his story become apparent e.g. Bateman outlines the murder of a man who at this point was not even in town Therefore the question is raised as to whether the murders are real or just a product of Bateman's imagination and if they are real is the society so over the top that not even the crime matters and he is able to escape unpunished In this paper this question and especially what the murders are about to express either way will be analyzed in view of social criticism Therefore first of all American society in the 1980s will be outlined to help the reader better understand the contemporary historical background to which the movie refers Subsequently the amoral materialism in American consumer society pictured in American Psycho will be described to clarify the social circumstances Bateman lives in Accordingly Bateman's cruel actions will be analyzed and its truth content will be discussed to later on conclude that this kind of society is not able to fulfill his life and by the help of violence Bateman wants to escape the conformity of America's superficial society

Citizen Critics Rosa A. Eberly, 2000 The condition of our public discussions about literary and cultural works has much to say about the condition of our democracy and the author argues for more public discourse in classrooms newspapers magazines etc to reclaim a public voice on national artistic matters In this revealing study of the links among literature rhetoric and democracy Rosa A Eberly explores the public debate generated by amateur and professional readers about four controversial literary works two that were censored in the United States and two that created conflict because they were not censored In Citizen Critics Eberly compares the outrage sparked by the publication of James Joyce's Ulysses and Henry Miller's Tropic of Cancer with the relative quiescence that greeted the much more violent and sexually explicit content of Bret Easton Ellis's American Psycho and Andrea Dworkin's Mercy Through a close reading of letters to the editor reviews media coverage and court cases Eberly shows how literary critics and legal experts defused censorship debates by shifting the focus from content to aesthetics and from social values to publicity By asserting their authority to pass judgments thus denying the authority of citizen critics these professionals effectively removed the discussion from literary public spheres A passionate advocate for treating reading as a public and rhetorical enterprise rather than solely as a private one Eberly suggests the potential impact a work of literature may have on the social polity if it is brought into public forums for debate rather than removed to the exclusive rooms of literary criticism Eberly urges educators to use their classrooms as protopublic spaces in which students can learn to make the transition from private reader to public citizen Fear and Learning Aalya Ahmad, Sean Moreland, 2013-03-29 This groundbreaking collection of new essays presents critical reflections on teaching horror film and fiction in many different ways and in a variety of academic settings from cultural theory to film studies from women s and gender studies to postcolonialism from critical thinking seminars on the paranormal to the timeless classics of English horror literature Together the essays show readers how the pedagogy of horror can galvanize unsettle and transform classrooms giving us powerful tools with which to consider interwoven issues of identity culture monstrosity the relationship between the real and the fictional normativity and adaptation Includes a foreword by celebrated horror writer Glen Hirshberg American Psycho Bret Easton Ellis, 2017
