American Small Sailing Craft Their Design Development And Construction:

American Small Sailing Craft, Their Design, Development, and Construction Howard Irving Chapelle, 1951 From the author of Yacht Designing and Planning and Boatbuilding the definitive history and survey of the great classic American small sailing craft      American Small Sailing Craft Howard Irving Chapelle, 1951      Boat building in Winterton, Trinity Bay, Newfoundland David A. Taylor, 2006-01-01 This revised edition of a classic work covers the history design construction and use of traditional wooden inshore fishing boats in the small town of Winterton on the shore of Trinity Bay Newfoundland Boatbuilding lore especially the dynamics of boat design and construction are seen from the perspective of the boat builders themselves and are discussed within the context of the community's social economic and natural environments Lavishly illustrated with photographs archival images drawings and line plans this book is a practical guide for boatbuilding enthusiasts and a valuable resource for scholars Published in English      Tancook Schooners Wayne M. O'Leary, 1994 The Tancook Schooners recounts the history of a remarkable yet neglected Atlantic Canadian watercraft The little Bluenoses as they were called formed the backbone of Nova Scotia's inshore fisheries and short run coastal trade in the early twentieth century The book also records the story of a unique although in many ways typical Maritime coastal community on the brink of the modern industrial age      Manual Arts and Crafts Helen MacPherson Thompson, 1969      Boating, 1959-01

Building Catherine Richard Kolin, 2001 Richard Kolin has been building boats for 25 years He has designed and built skiffs for both plywood and plank construction      Boat Building in Winterton, Trinity Bay, Newfoundland David Alan Taylor, 1982      Bulletin United States National Museum, 1960      Traditional Crafts and Craftsmanship in America Susan Sink, 1983      Festival of Michigan Folklife, 1988      The Development of Electrical Technology in the 19th Century United States National Museum, 1962      Ghost Fleet of Mallows Bay and Other Tales of the Lost Chesapeake Donald G. Shomette, 1996 New Jersey a steamship that sank in the waters of the Chesapeake in 1870 is the subject of the first part of this absorbing narrative The wreck became the scene of large scale relic hunting but also of cutting edge technology Events surrounding the exploration of the wreck were instrumental in the creation of the first state sponsored underwater archaeology agency in Maryland      That Others Might Live Dennis L. Noble, 1994 From 1878 to 1915 the U S Life Saving Service was a small federal maritime organization that carried out amazing rescues of those in distress close to shore Working from small stations scattered along the coastlines of the United States and using only oar powered boats none longer than 36 feet crewmembers came to be known as storm warriors as they pulled off rescues that almost defied belief Considered one of the most valorous organizations ever run by the U S government the service carried out thousands of rescues and many of its men lost their lives in the effort to save others Yet since its incorporation into the U S Coast Guard in 1915 the feats of this life saving service have been largely confused with those of its successor or forgotten altogether Now for the first time in a full length book the author presents an operational history of the U S Life Saving Service and places the agency within a national context shedding light on a little known aspect of maritime history The book includes numerous photographs and other illustrations of the people equipment and exploits of this service and covers many out of the way stations about which little has been published Dennis Noble also examines the formation of the service its organization and its rescue equipment and explores the lives and routines of early watermen In a clear and precise style he describes how rescue efforts were conducted and includes gripping stories of the fate of such schooners as the George Taulane and J H Hartzell These legendary sea rescues that presaged the modern day Coast Guard were previously addressed only on a local or regional basis
