Accumulating Insecurity Accumulating Insecurity:

Accumulating Insecurity Shelley Feldman, Charles C. Geisler, Gayatri A. Menon, 2011 Accumulating Insecurity examines the relationship between two vitally important contemporary phenomena a fixation on security that justifies global military engagements and the militarization of civilian life and the dramatic increase in day to day insecurity associated with contemporary crises in health care housing incarceration personal debt and unemployment Contributors to the volume explore how violence is used to maintain conditions for accumulating capital Across world regions violence is manifested in the increasingly strained often terrifying circumstances in which people struggle to socially reproduce themselves Security is often sought through armaments and containment which can lead to the impoverishment rather than the nourishment of laboring bodies Under increasingly precarious conditions governments oversee the movements of people rather than scrutinize and regulate the highly volatile movements of capital They often do so through practices that condone dispossession in the name of economic and political security

Risking Capitalism Susanne Soederberg, 2016-10-28 This volume examines diverse meanings and practices of risk management ranging from austerity to climate change to housing and debt The authors investigate the relationship between shifts in contemporary capitalism and the ways in which neoliberal forms of risk management have emerged been reproduced and normalized and transformed historically

Political and Military Sociology Neovi M. Karakatsanis, 2017-07-05 Several contributions in this volume focus on the modern Middle East with other articles examining justifications for war the return of war veterans white nationalists and the activities of the Moral Majority Maria Markantonatou addresses the blurring of distinctions between civilians and combatants Udi Lebel investigates how the IDF is being changed by the increasing number of religious Zionists recruited Orlee Hauser argues that the experiences of women in the IDF vary depending on their positions and assignments Bruce McDonald compares the performance of the Feder Ram and augmented Solow models in accounting for economic growth in Iran Neema Noori examines the interrelationship of war the state and mobilization in Iran Molly Clever examines the justifications for war employed by both state and non state actors Christina Knopf uses relational dialectics to examine US veteran transitions David Bugg and Dianne Dentice analyze attitudes and perceptions of white nationalists Finally Aaron Davis considers the rise of the Illinois state chapter of the Moral Majority in the 1980s This volume in the Political and Military Sociology series also includes reviews of important new books in civil military relations political science and military sociology

Trying to Make It Rajeev V. Gundur, 2022-08-15 Trying to Make It is R V Gundur s journey from the US Mexico border to America s heartland from America s prisons to its streets in search of the true story of the drug trade and the people who participate in it The book begins in the Paso del Norte area encompassing the sister cities of Ciudad Ju rez and El Paso which has been in the public eye as calls for securing the border persist From there it moves on to Phoenix which was infamously associated with the drug trade through a series of kidnappings Finally the book goes on to Chicago which has been a lightning rod of criticism for its gangs and violence Gundur highlights the similarities and differences that exist in the American drug trade within the three sites and how they relate to current drug trade narratives in the US At each stop the reader is transported to the city's historical and contemporary contexts of the drug trade and introduced to the individuals who have lived them Drug retailers street and prison gang members wholesalers and the law enforcement personnel who try to stop them offer readers a comprehensive look at how various illicit enterprises work together to supply the drugs that American users demand Most importantly through a combination of macro and microlevel vantage points and comparative analysis of three key sites in illicit drug operations the stories in Trying to Make It remind us that the people involved in the drug trade for the most part do not deserve vilification Far from being a seemingly uniform widespread threat or an unlimited array of bogeymen and women they are ordinary people living ordinary lives just trying to make it

Grassroots Environmental Governance Leah Horowitz, Michael Watts, 2016-12-08 Grassroots movements can pose serious challenges to both governments and corporations However grassroots actors possess a variety of motivations and their visions of development may evolve in complex ways Meanwhile their relative powerlessness obliges them to forge an array of shifting alliances and to devise a range of adaptive strategies Grassroots Environmental Governance presents a compilation of in depth ethnographic case studies based on original research Each of the chapters focuses specifically on grassroots engagements with the agents of various forms of industrial development The book is geographically diverse including analyses of groups based in both the global North and South and represents a range of disciplinary perspectives This allows the collection to explore themes that cross cut specific localities and disciplinary boundaries and thus to generate important theoretical insights into the complexities of grassroots engagements with industry This volume will be of great interest to scholars of environmental activism environmental governance and environmental studies in general

International Boundaries and Environmental Security: Frameworks for Regional Cooperation Gerald Blake,1997-08-15 Are international boundaries necessarily an obstacle to effective environmental management the ever increasing competition between states for access to natural resources may represent a threat not only to ecological stability but to regional and even global security Or perhaps transboundary environmental issues can actually have a positive impact on international relations encouraging states to cooperate and building confidence between previously hostile neighbours Drawing on a wide range of case studies The papers in this volume explore these important issues from a multi disciplinary perspective Contributions from practitioners and technical experts complement detailed studies by geographers lawyers and political scientists This mix yields a unique survey of 1 problems when environmental systems cross international borders and 2 transboundary cooperative projects designed to reduce the threat of ecological catastrophe and political conflict between competing neighbours around the world The conclusion Despite the daunting challenges there exist grounds for optimism This collection is based on the proceedings of an international conference held in Singapore in June 1995 co hosted by the Centre for Advanced Studies And The Department of Geography National University of Singapore And The International Boundaries Research Unit University of Durham United Kingdom and is essential reading for anyone interested in understanding the complex relationship between boundaries environment and international security View
