Educating Democratic Citizens in Troubled Times Janet S. Bixby, Judith L. Pace, 2014-03-14 This book offers a groundbreaking examination of citizenship education programs that serve contemporary youth in schools and communities across the United States. These programs include social studies classes and curricula school governance and community based education efforts. The book takes an interdisciplinary approach to exploring the experiences and perspectives of educators and youth involved in these civic education efforts. The contributors offer rich analyses of how mainstream and alternative programs are envisioned and enacted and the most important factors that shape them. A variety of theoretical lenses and qualitative methodologies are used including ethnography, focus group interviews and content analyses of textbooks.

The African-American Odyssey Media Research Update Board of Trustees Professor of African American Studies and Professor of History Darlene Clark Hine, Darlene Clark Hine, William C. Hine, Stanley Harrold, 2004-02 For one two semester undergraduate courses in African American History African American Studies and United States History The Media and Research update edition includes a new CD ROM bound into every book that includes over 150 primary source documents in African American history each accompanied by essay questions. The African-American Odyssey: Since 1865 Darlene Clark Hine, William C. Hine, Stanley Harrold, 2003 This book is the first comprehensive survey of the African American experience. It draws on recent research to present black history in a clear and direct manner within a broad social cultural and political framework. White supremacy, the Great Depression, the building of black community institutions, the equal rights movement and African American military service. For anyone who is interested in an in depth exploration of African American history as it relates to U.S. history.

American Odyssey Gary B. Nash, 2001 A history of the United States in the twentieth century featuring sociological and cultural events as well as strictly historical and using many pertinent literary excerpts.

World Yearbook of Education 2011 Lyn Yates, Madeleine Grumet, 2011-02-01 How do curriculum conceptions of knowledge and the schooling experiences of young people engage the great issues of this tumultuous time. Curriculum is always influenced by the events that shape our world but when testing and benchmarking preoccupy us we can forget the world that is both the foundation and the object of curriculum. This edited volume brings together international contributors to analyze and reflect on the way the events of the last decade have influenced the curriculum in their countries. As they address nationalism in the face of economic globalisation, the international financial crisis, immigration and the culture of diaspora they ask how national loyalties are balanced with international relationships and interests They ask how the rights of women and of ethnic and racial groups are represented They ask what has changed about history and civics post 9 11 and they ask how countries that have experienced profound political and economic changes have addressed them in curriculum These interactions and changes are a subject of particular interest for an international yearbook in that they are almost always permeated by global movements and influenced by multinational bodies and practices And as these essays show in curriculum global and international issues are explicitly or implicitly also about local and national interests and about how citizens engage their rights and responsibilities This volume brings together a new approach to perspectives on curriculum today and a new collection of insights into the changes from different parts of the world which discuss How is the world represented in curriculum How do responses to world events shape the stories we tell students about who they are and can be This book will be of great benefit to educational researchers and policy makers as well as undergraduate and postgraduate students
