

Business Exam study:

Introduction to BME:

Types of Business ownership:

- Sole traders, refer to individuals who operate their businesses as single owners without any formal legal structure separating their personal and business assets. In other words, a sole trader and their business are considered a single legal entity.
- A Small proprietary company is a privately held business entity in which ownership is restricted, typically with fewer than 50 shareholders, limited liability, and compliance with specific regulatory requirements based on its size and structure.
- A Non-For-Profit organisation or NPO, is a legal entity formed to pursue a specific mission or purpose without the primary goal of generating profit. It operates for the public benefit and reinvests revenue into its mission.
- A Franchise is a contractual arrangement where a franchisor grants a franchisee the right to operate a business using the franchisor's brand, systems, and support, often in exchange for fees and royalties.

Purpose and intent of a business plan:

A business plan serves as a comprehensive roadmap for a company, outlining its objectives, strategies, and financial projections. Its purpose is to guide decision-making, secure funding, and communicate the company's vision. It also helps evaluate viability, set goals, and adapt to changing circumstances for sustainable growth and success.

Key elements and structure of a business plan:

Executive summary: An executive summary is a concise overview of a document, report, or business plan. It provides key insights, highlights, and essential information, enabling readers to quickly grasp the main points and objectives.

Vision statement: A vision statement is a concise declaration of an organization's long-term aspirations and goals. It articulates what the organization seeks to achieve or become, inspiring and guiding its actions and decisions.

Mission statement: A business mission statement succinctly conveys an organization's purpose, values, and core objectives. It outlines why the company exists, its fundamental principles, and the primary goals it strives to accomplish for its stakeholders and the broader community.
