Introduction

ABC Logistics, a prominent logistics and supply chain company, faced a significant threat to operational efficiency and customer satisfaction due to outdated technology in systems and workflow process management. This challenge led to increased fuel-wasting routes to improve efficiency and customer service without disrupting ongoing operations.

Problem Statement

The core issue was the outdated technology infrastructure at ABC Logistics that could not handle the scale of its operations, leading to delays, errors in shipment handling, and a decrease in customer satisfaction. This inefficiency not only affected the company's reputation but also its profitability.

Analysis

An in-depth analysis was conducted focusing on the existing hardware, technology stack, and customer feedback mechanisms. The findings showed that manual processes and legacy systems were the primary bottlenecks, causing significant delays in response times and poor logistics management. Market research indicated that competitors had moved to more advanced and integrated systems, which provided faster and more reliable service.

Proposed Solutions

1. Technology Upgrade: Implement a suite of the latest enterprise resource planning (ERP) system to streamline logistics operations to streamline all core business processes.
2. Process Re-engineering: Overhaul the workflow to eliminate unnecessary steps and integrate automation where possible.

Ethics Corporate Ethics grade 1 0 University of Applied Sciences Dortmund course Business English Social Engagement language English abstract The best motivational basis for writing an insightful and useful thesis is indisputably personal interest Therefore I have chosen this topic as there are several reasons why I regard this to be an interesting field of research Firstly I myself have developed an interest for the country of South Africa as I have spent my semester abroad at the DUT in Durban This results in deeper insight into the society at hand and the people who having to deal with the social problems As an international business student one consequently questions the way business is done in this country and the means of corporate engagement Resulting from our Business Ethics class in which we were given the assignment to write about an ethical issue in a foreign country I have already acquired knowledge about the ethical landscape in South Africa I realized that this field is especially difficult and broad regarding the Apartheid stricken country Discussions and meetings with South African locals in Durban who have a certain insight into the governmental and or business practices underlying the theory have then further deepened my desire to pursuit further research in this direction As to the scientific relevance corporate engagement still constitutes an immensely important role and even more so in emerging economies So companies are constantly looking for ways of improving their responsible behavior in society Companies seldom have the desire to analyze all the concepts available in the pool of corporate social engagement approaches This thesis is supposed to give companies a guideline on how to successfully integrate one of these concepts and thereby generate social and economic leverage in the environment of a developing economy that is South Africa external reporting Internally companies must enhance data collection and analysis involving management and supervisory bodies in sustainability issues This requirement extends to the entire value chain increasing administrative burdens and costs Externally transparent ESG reporting can enhance stakeholder trust attract investments and improve reputation though non compliance risks reputational damage and financial penalties Despite challenges effective ESG reporting under the CSRD offers significant benefits including improved stakeholder relations access to capital and opportunities for innovation and growth The directive s alignment with international standards like the IFRS Sustainability standards ensures consistent and credible reporting The African Journal of Finance and Management ,2012 Business Organizations D.
