as Ren Laura Blythe Liu, 2015-05-26 Teacher educator international professional development involves personal and professional research and practice oriented and pragmatic and aesthetic growth This text encourages teacher educators to explore this work as Ren or benevolent human beings in cultivating global professional communities As faculties engage in Ren as a vital 21st century form of development new insights may emerge for how to revive and apply this concept in our changing global society This text begins by discussing evolving concepts of achievement in an era of globalization contrasting comparative conquest with global notions of relational integrity Evolving aspects of achievement in 21st century China are also included The text goes on to explore aspects of 21st century teacher quality and professional development before presenting a theoretical framework for the international professional development of teacher education faculties as a process of becoming professional individuals research based practitioners and aesthetic engineers Narrative inquiry including the aesthetic approach employed in this text is described as the research method used to explore the development of 15 faculty participants in this text s case study of one teacher education research center at a Chinese university Findings from the author s two year immersion at the research site involve three overarching complementary contrasts or tensions held in balance across the 15 faculties in this study These tensions included harmonizing 1 community and individuality 2 adaptability and expression and 3 authority and compassion The findings are discussed in light of the original theoretical framework for teacher educator international professional development by integrating participant interviews research publications and further observations into current academic discourse The text concludes by offering implications for teacher education practice research and policy for China and other countries including the U S and suggests how the findings connect to global academic discourses on teacher educator professional development across international settings

From

the Margins to the Mainstream Kenneth Kushner, Joanne Dowdy, 2014-02-27 Understanding and addressing social justice concerns has become a central focus in an increasing number of schools as well as teacher education programs. The activities in this book are grounded in the recognition that personal experience and engagement is essential for meaningful intercultural learning and social justice awareness to occur. The authors of these activities themselves teachers and teacher educators representing a wide range of disciplines share their favorite and most engaging strategies they have found to be effective at helping students acquire a level of comfort and insight in what can oftentimes be contentious challenging and sensitive issues. These hands on activities actively engage preservice and practicing teachers in real life and simulated experiences raising awareness and providing a foundation for introspection reflection and discussion around these critically important issues in the safety of the classroom setting.
