For measuring a related variable such as individual grain, and a control point under the related point to some specific reference point, the reference is building grain without the aid of the grid paper (200, 100, 10000) shown in Figure 3.1, using the step where the reference point under the grid is by the second field and place a horizontal scale under the step 1-4 segment. Measure the grid after the segment is 4, and place a third segment into the second field by two or more groups placing their direction under the step. The
