[A pool of moonlight falls into the empty room. There is a pounding at the door.]

ROSANNAH. (Off.) Anybody there? If anybody's there, let me in! I'm a person in serious trouble.

(Banging and kicking continue. Then, suddenly, with one loud crash, the door bangs open and an exhausted, freezing woman, Rosannah DeLuce, bursts in. She is wearing a wedding gown and veil. Also silver satin slippers. She is wet and cold to the bone. Her satin and lace cling to her and droop like a living thing that has died on her skin. The wind outside is howling. She struggles to close the door. Then she turns, and what had formerly appeared to be nothing more than a pile of blankets on the bed, has suddenly transmogrified into a shrouded figure, standing. The lights brighten and expand. She backs up, truly frightened and on guard.)

ROSANNAH. Why didn't you answer the door?

(She gets no response from the blanketed form and continues with more courage.)

I could've frozen to death! My death would've been on your hands, had that been the case. It's something like two hundred degrees below out there with the windchill, and I've been walking for over an hour. My car died. DEAD. I left it somewhere. I don't even know where. By now I'm sure it's totally buried in the snow -out there—somewhere.

(Noticing the bottle of whiskey and a glass on the table.)

Do you mind if I have a drink?

(She helps herself to some whiskey. The figure remains frozen solid.)

Transactions of the St. Paul's Ecclesiological Society, 1905 The History of the World Hans Ferdinand Helmolt (1865- ed), 1903 The War Against Naturalism in the Contemporary American Theatre Robert J. Andreach, 2008 The book applies playwright John Guare's statement that the war against naturalism is the history of the American theatre in the Twentieth Century to selected plays by important contemporary American playwrights Crucial to the argument is the recognition that a war presupposes two sides with neither side defeating the other for if naturalistic theatre were to win all theatre would be linear with characters circumscribed by their heredity and environment If non naturalistic theatre were to win all theatre would be a hodgepodge of incoherent images After isolating elements of a naturalistic play in its philosophical and mode of production sense the book examines plays that wage war in language and character The plays are all of the past few decades some by Foreman and Wellman are disorienting some by Albee Groff and Maxwell are controversial others by Eno and Corthron are by playwrights on the verge of major careers still others by Overmyer and Jenkin are drawing aspiring playwrights to them as models of new exciting writing for the theatre All of them whether colliding genres and styles or destabilizing meaning as in plays by Gibson and Long or reclaiming a mystery as in plays by Ludlam Greenberg and Donagy challenge naturalism's boundaries The book not only provides an approach to the contemporary American drama theatre but also brings together playwrights not perceived as having any connections other than the fact that they are creating plays today The text is appropriate for undergraduate students through professors and practitioners
