Score the patient at agreed time on every shift. Absence of behaviour gives a score of 0. Presence of behaviour gives a score of 1. Maximum score (SUM) is 6. If behaviour is normal for a well known client, only an increase in behaviour scores 1, e.g. if a well know client normally is confused (has been so for a long time) this will give a score of 0. If an increase in confusion is observed this gives a score of 1.

Tabagisme en psychiatrie Sarah Boumaza, 2010

Le tabagisme est la première cause de mortalité chez les sujets atteints d'affections psychiatriques. Sa prise en charge chez ces patients est devenue un enjeu de santé publique. Depuis le 1er janvier 2007, il est strictement interdit de fumer dans les services de psychiatrie. L'application de cette interdiction suscite des questions qui font l'objet de vifs débats dans les hôpitaux. L'une des principales préoccupations des équipes soignantes est la crainte d'une recrudescence d'agressivité lors du sevrage tabagique des patients psychiatriques. Les données de la littérature proposent un tel risque, sont parfois contradictoires mais majoritairement rassurantes. Dans ce contexte, nous avons analysé les divers liens existant entre tabagisme, sevrage tabagique et troubles psychiatriques, ainsi que les modalités de prise en charge de cette dépendance en tenant compte des spécificités propres à la psychiatrie. Nous avons ensuite étudié les avantages et les difficultés liés à cette interdiction. Enfin, nous avons tenté d'objectiver l'impact du sevrage tabagique sur le risque de violence dans une cohorte de 72 patients hospitalisés dans une unité psychiatrique fermée. Pour ce faire, au sein de cette cohorte, l'aide de la Broset Violence Checklist nous a permis de comparer le risque de violence du groupe de patients non fumeurs à celui du groupe de fumeurs auxquels il a été proposé systématiquement une substitution nicotinique. Nous n'avons retrouvé aucune différence significative concernant le risque de violence entre ces deux groupes de patients bien apparés sur les critères cliniques.
