Bt 13a Basic Trainer Students Manual:

BT-13a Basic Trainer Students' Manual Army Air Forces Training Command, 2011-03-01 Equipped with a more powerful engine and a larger heavier airframe than primary training aircraft Vultee's BT 13 served an important role as a secondary level trainer for the U.S. Army Air Corps and Navy. Designed by Vultee's Richard Palmer, the BT 13 was adapted from plans for a fighter aircraft. The prototype first flew in May of 1939 and by August 300 were on order. By war's end over 11,500 BT 13s and variants would be produced more than any other trainer. Featuring a cantilever low wing and fixed landing gear, the BT 13 appeared to be of all metal construction but it actually relied on fabric covered control surfaces. The powerplant was a Pratt Whitney R 985 radial engine capable of producing 450hp. Nicknamed the Vultee Vibrator because of its tendency to shake as it approached stall speed, the BT 13 was nevertheless beloved by student pilots and instructors alike. Several variants of the aircraft were built including the BT 13A and BT 15 equipped with alternate powerplants. Roughly 2,000 BT 13As and BT 13Bs were transferred to the Navy which designated them as SNV 1 and SNV 2 respectively. Originally created by the U.S. Army Air Force Training Command, this Basic Training Student Manual features the BT 13A throughout and describes all aspects of flight training circa 1944. It puts you right in the cockpit of one of history's great planes.

Flying Without Wings Sallie Guy, 2008 This is the extraordinary story of a poor Tennessee farm boy growing up during the depression of the 1930's who longed to be a pilot. His dream was realized when he enlisted in January 1941 as an aviation cadet and despite being terminated from the basic training program in a disciplinary action, he ended up as a liaison pilot instead as a flying sergeant. In New Guinea he flew observation in an unarmed Piper Cub for the 218th Heavy Field Artillery Battalion, earning the Silver Star, the Soldier's Medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross and promotion to second Lieutenant. With the ingenious help of his flight surgeon friend, he was transferred to the 43rd Bombardment Group, the 65th Bombardment Squadron of the Fifth Air Force. He flew 32 missions in B-24 four-engine bombers without regular pilot's wings, a feat unequaled in World War II. When Lieutenant Guy was sent home with injuries in December 1944, his superior officers in New Guinea notified Lieutenant General Henry Hap Arnold, Commandant of the United States Air Force, about his remarkable story. General Arnold summoned Guy to the Pentagon to have his wings pinned on him by an aide. Guy stayed in the US Air Force for a total of 26 1/2 years, retiring as a Lieutenant Colonel with chief command pilot's wings. Throughout his career he bucked the system, defying colonels and generals when he thought he was right and they were wrong. I have told his story from boyhood to retirement, recounting experiences that appear unbelievable. With World War II veterans dying by the thousands on a daily basis, I felt it was important to tell my husband's unique story while he is still alive, depending upon taped interviews, personal recollections and his official military records. Dr. Milton Gusack, a flight surgeon with the 43rd Bomb Group commented, "I loved the book. It is classic Kelly, showing he was a combination of guts, capability, loyalty and stubbornness. This story is a truthful revelation about warfare and how the American spirit was able to survive the most horrible experiences and still maintain a sense of humor Dr Ken Wolf Murray State University history professor said Kelly made me think of Forest Gump Placed in unusual situations he was unphased by meeting celebrities and persisted in achieving the impossible Even back in 1958 a writer for the Olmsted AFB newsletter in Pennsylvania wrote a feature about Kelly in the war Hal L Eustace chief of Advertising and Publicity sent a copy of the story to Tinker AFB where Kelly had been stationed with a letter stating This is one of the most unusual stories that I ever ran across in the service Vultee Aircraft 1932-1947 Jonathan Thompson,1992 Beskrivelse af Vultee flyproduktionen og flytyperne Fatal Army Air Forces
