areas of movies entertainment general interest education sports recreation fine arts health science business industry children juvenile how to instruction Making Waves Albert Bates, 2021-04 Renowned environmentalist Albert Bates provides children with an educational and engaging look at the interdependent relationship between the oceans and ourselves and what is needed to protect the ocean's ecosystems They gain an understanding of the ocean's biodiversity and learn how human activities have resulted in significant changes in ocean temperature oxygen levels acidity ice sea levels and sea life populations Clear explanations show how this will have a consequential effect not just on the oceans themselves but humans on land as well On an encouraging note Bates explains that these dangerous trends can be stopped if the right measures are taken such as blue carbon initiatives to prohibit deep sea mining replanting mangroves protecting salt marshes and seagrasses curtailing cruise ships and trawlers and restoring coral reefs The benefits from these actions often have a multiplier effect and kids are shown that it is more cost effective and financially rewarding to do them soon rather than later

Making Waves: Saving Our Ocean Albert Bates, 2021-08-10 Modern technologies have wreaked havoc on the ocean's biodiversity which affects not just sea life but all life on the planet Environmentalist Albert Bates teaches students about currents and tides the ocean's food pyramid what is meant by blue acceleration and what causes an imbalanced ecosystem The two biggest changes to the ocean's health overfishing and pollution are explored in depth The effects of climate change which include melting ice caps and strong storms may be alarming But Bates delivers hope highlighting new measures such as global blue carbon initiatives salt marsh and seagrass protections and coral reef restoration that can regenerate and revitalize the ocean Young people are empowered with the knowledge that what they do today can turn the tide and make a significant difference
