Advanced Topics In Information Retrieval The Information Retrieval Series:

Advanced Topics in Information Retrieval Massimo Melucci, Ricardo Baeza-Yates, 2011-06-10 Information retrieval is the science concerned with the effective and efficient retrieval of documents starting from their semantic content. It is employed to fulfill some information need from a large number of digital documents. Given the ever growing amount of documents available and the heterogeneous data structures used for storage, information retrieval has recently faced and tackled novel applications. In this book, Melucci and Baeza Yates present a wide spectrum illustration of recent research results in advanced areas related to information retrieval. Readers will find chapters on e.g. aggregated search, digital advertising, digital libraries, discovery of spam and opinions, information retrieval in context, multimedia resource discovery, quantum mechanics applied to information retrieval, scalability challenges in web search engines, and interactive information retrieval evaluation. All chapters are written by well known researchers, are completely self contained and comprehensive, and are complemented by an integrated bibliography and subject index. With this selection, the editors provide the most up to date survey of topics usually not addressed in depth in traditional text books on information retrieval. The presentation is intended for a wide audience of people interested in information retrieval: undergraduate and graduate students, post doctoral researchers, lecturers, and industrial researchers.

Advances in Information Retrieval Theory Giambattista Amati, Fabio Crestani, 2011-09-01 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the Third International Conference on the Theory of Information Retrieval (ICTIR 2011) held in Bertinoro, Italy, in September 2011. The 25 revised full papers and 13 short papers presented together with the abstracts of two invited talks were carefully reviewed and selected from 65 submissions. The papers cover topics ranging from query expansion, co-occurrence analysis, user and interactive modelling, system performance prediction and comparison, and probabilistic approaches for ranking and modelling IR, to topics related to interdisciplinary approaches or applications. They are organized into the following topical sections: predicting query performance, latent semantic analysis and word co-occurrence analysis, query expansion and re-ranking, comparison of information retrieval systems and approximate search, probability ranking principle and alternatives, interdisciplinary approaches, user and relevance, result diversification and query disambiguation, and logical operators and descriptive approaches.

Advances in Information Retrieval W. Bruce

Croft, 2006-04-11 The Center for Intelligent Information Retrieval CIIR was formed in the Computer Science Department of the University of Massachusetts Amherst in 1992 The core support for the Center came from a National Science Foundation State Industry University Cooperative Research Center S IUCRC grant although there had been a sizeable information retrieval IR research group for over 10 years prior to that grant The basic goal of these Centers is to combine basic research applied research and technology transfer The CIIR has been successful in each of these areas in that it has produced over 270 research papers has been involved in many successful government and industry collaborations and has had a significant role in high visibility Internet sites and start ups As a result of these efforts the CIIR has become known internationally as one of the leading research groups in the area of information retrieval The CIIR focuses on research that results in more effective and efficient access and discovery in large heterogeneous distributed text and multimedia databases The scope of the work that is done in the CIIR is broad and goes significantly beyond traditional areas of information retrieval such as retrieval models cross lingual search and automatic query expansion The research includes both low level systems issues such as the design of protocols and architectures for distributed search as well as more human centered topics such as user interface design visualization and data mining with text and multimedia retrieval

Introduction to Information Retrieval and Quantum Mechanics Massimo Melucci, 2015-12-08 This book introduces the quantum mechanical framework to information retrieval scientists seeking a new perspective on foundational problems As such it concentrates on the main notions of the quantum mechanical framework and describes an innovative range of concepts and tools for modeling information representation and retrieval processes The book is divided into four chapters Chapter 1 illustrates the main modeling concepts for information retrieval including Boolean logic vector spaces probabilistic models and machine learning based approaches which will be examined further in subsequent chapters Next chapter 2 briefly explains the main concepts of the quantum mechanical framework focusing on approaches linked to information retrieval such as interference superposition and entanglement Chapter 3 then reviews the research conducted at the intersection between information retrieval and the quantum mechanical framework The chapter is subdivided into a number of topics and each description ends with a section suggesting the most important reference resources Lastly chapter 4 offers suggestions for future research briefly outlining the most essential and promising research directions to fully leverage the quantum mechanical framework for effective and efficient information retrieval systems This book is especially intended for researchers working in information retrieval database systems and machine learning who want to acquire a clear picture of the potential offered by the quantum mechanical framework in their own research area Above all the book offers clear guidance on whether why and when to effectively use the mathematical formalism and the concepts of the quantum mechanical framework to address various foundational issues in information retrieval
