Aboriginal Australians Aboriginal Australians:

Imagined Destinies Russell McGregor, 2015-09-08 White Australians once confidently if regretfully believed that the Aboriginal people were doomed to extinction Even in the 1950s Australian children were still being taught that the Australian Aboriginals were a dying race who would eventually disappear from the face of the earth In Imagined Destinies Russell McGregor explores the origins and the gradual demise of the doomed race theory which was unquestioned in nineteenth century European thinking and remained uncontested until the 1930s White perceptions of Australia's indigenous people and their future had been shaped by Enlightenment ideas about progress Darwin's new theories on the survival of the fittest and other European philosophical concepts Imagined Destinies provides a challenging analysis and history of an idea which has exerted a powerful influence over white Australian attitudes to and policies for Aboriginal people Indeed its long shadow may still be with us

Religion and Non-Religion among Australian Aboriginal Peoples James L. Cox, Adam Possamai, 2016-12-01 Offering a significant contribution to the emerging field of Non Religion Studies Religion and Non Religion among Australian Aboriginal Peoples draws on Australian 2011 Census statistics to ask whether the Indigenous Australian population like the wider Australian society is becoming increasingly secularised or whether there are other explanations for the surprisingly high percentage of Aboriginal people in Australia who state that they have no religion Contributors from a range of disciplines consider three central questions How do Aboriginal Australians understand or interpret what Westerners have called religion Do Aboriginal Australians distinguish being religious from being non religious How have modernity and Christianity affected Indigenous understandings of religion These questions re focus Western dominated concerns with the decline or revival of religion by incorporating how Indigenous Australians have responded to modernity how modernity has affected Indigenous peoples religious behaviours and perceptions and how variations of response can be found in rural and urban contexts

Aboriginal Australians KEITH D. SUTER, KAYE STEARMAN, 1988-07-01 Reclaiming the Land The indigenous Aboriginal peoples of Australia once inhabited the whole continent For over 50 000 years their rich and varied culture revolved around the land In 1788 began the white invasion of Australia which destroyed many Aboriginal communities Thousands of Aborigines died of disease from poisons and in frontier wars when their land was stolen and used for agriculture grazing and mining Aboriginal rights were unrecognized in law Two centuries later Aborigines have achieved legal equality But their rights are often disregarded and they suffer massive inequalities in housing education employment and health compared to other Australians They are more likely to be arrested and imprisoned Since 1980 over 100 young Aboriginal men have died while in police custody But the greatest loss has been of land and it is the need to regain and protect the land which has been the impetus behind contemporary Aboriginal political activity a struggle which many Aborigines believe has been betrayed by successive governments In the Northern Territory and South Australia large areas have come under Aboriginal ownership but other states have conceded little or nothing

Today an historic High Court judgment has opened the way to a new relationship between Aboriginal and non Aboriginal Australians Aboriginal Australians gives a concise and factual account of the major problems currently facing Aborigines This updated edition traces developments into the 1990s including the Mabo judgment and its consequences A useful and detailed report on a unique people and their fight for justice it should prove an invaluable resource for teachers students the media and all those interested in racism and Australia

Original Australians Josephine Flood, 2006-08-01 Charts Aboriginal history from earliest prehistory to today and details their survival through the millennia to the stolen children issue

The Social Archaeology of Australian Indigenous Societies Bruno David, Bryce Barker, Ian J. McNiven, 2006 This book presents original and provocative views on the complex and dynamic social lives of Indigenous Australians from an historical perspective Building on the foundational work of Harry Lourandos the book critically examines and challenges traditional approaches which have presented Indigenous Australian pasts as static and tethered to ecological rationalism The book reveals the ancient past of Aboriginal Australians to be one of long term changes in social relationships and traditions as well as the active management and manipulation of the environment It encourages a deeper appreciation of the ways Aboriginal peoples have engaged with and constructed their worlds It solicits a deeper understanding of the contemporary political and social context of research and the insidious impacts of colonialist philosophies In short it concerns people both past and present Ultimately The Social Archaeology of Australian Indigenous Societies looks beyond the stereotype of Aboriginal peoples as hunter gatherers and charts new and challenging agendas for Australian Aboriginal archaeology
