

For obtaining nutritional information a comparison of data from our first control farms (Department of Agriculture and Statistics website of our respective country, Germany [22], Switzerland website (Agroscope, Food Chain Research) in Vöcklabruck, Austria). The recording of figures is based on food and feed laboratory guidelines. Research attempts to generate more complete and accurate information regarding the products as possible. Since some farms may not be able to determine test parameters, their origins, intended human effect, or regional status may not be included. Data entry may be done by the producer, but variations like order due to inconsistent ordering, arbitrary differences influence in the preparation of the results and/or season of the year. This listing is updated periodically to all attempts to reflect the current status of our category. 02/09/2016/02/16
