And Denial Nature Environmental Philosophy Capitalism:

The Denial of Nature Arne Johan Vetlesen, 2015-02-11 A study of the increasingly precarious relationship between humans and nature this book seeks to go beyond work already contributed to the environmental movement It does so by highlighting the importance of experiencing rather than merely theorizing nature while realizing that such experience is becoming increasingly rare thus reinforcing the estrangement from nature that is a source of its ongoing human caused destruction In his original approach to environmental philosophy the author argues for the reinstatement of nature's value outside of its exploitative usefulness for human ends Such a perspective emphasizes the extent to which the environmental problem is a concrete reality requiring urgent action based on a multi-sensuous appreciation of humans' dependence on nonhuman lifeforms Designed as an accompaniment to undergraduate and postgraduate research The Denial of Nature draws on empirically informed literature from the social sciences to examine what life is really like for humans and nature in the era of global capitalism The book contends that capitalist society exploits nature both in the form of human capital and natural capital more relentlessly than any other and offers an environmental philosophy which actively opposes current developments Through discussions of the work of Teresa Brennan, Theodor Adorno, Martin Heidegger and Hans Jonas and through a radical critique of the nature deficit in Jürgen Habermas' theory of capitalist modernity The Denial of Nature relies on insights from Critical Realism to bring together several seldom-linked philosophies and suggest a new approach to the heavily discussed question of environmental ethics Arne Johan Vetlesen is Professor of Philosophy at the University of Oslo, Norway and the author of twenty books among them Perception, Empathy and Judgment: An Inquiry into the Preconditions of Moral Performance (1994), Closeness: An Ethics with Heidegger and Levinas (1997), Evil and Human Agency (2005) and A Philosophy of Pain (2010) The Routledge Guidebook to Horkheimer and Adorno's Dialectic of Enlightenment Espen Hammer, Fred Rush, 2025-10-27 Composed whilst in exile in the United States during the Second World War, Max Horkheimer and Theodor W. Adorno's Dialectic of Enlightenment is the most famous and influential text of the Frankfurt School. A theoretical exploration of history, modernity and culture, its core warning of crisis and regression remains highly relevant today. However, it is also a notoriously complex work of philosophy. The Routledge Guidebook to Horkheimer and Adorno's Dialectic of Enlightenment is the first fully contextualized introduction to this foundational text in philosophy and social theory, addressing its central themes, reception and influence. This Guidebook examines the conceptual and intellectual background to Dialectic of Enlightenment, the ideas, themes and arguments of the text, the reception and legacy of Dialectic of Enlightenment. A comprehensive and clearly written guide to this important text, The Routledge Guidebook to Horkheimer and Adorno's Dialectic of Enlightenment will be invaluable to students coming to the work for the first time as well as more advanced students and researchers in philosophy, politics, sociology and the history of ideas

Education and Intercultural Identity Zygmunt Bauman, Agostino Portera, 2021-03-10 Education and Intercultural Identity offers a dialogue between influential authors Zygmunt Bauman and Agostino Portera that reflects on and discusses contemporary events and issues relating to the crisis of global normativity education and intercultural identity Centered around a previously unpublished dialogue between Bauman and Portera the book contains an extended introduction by Riccardo Mazzeo that traces key themes in the dialogue and highlights the importance of education in our globalized world The book highlights that intercultural and multicultural education is the best developed model to meet modern day challenges that include religious pluralism pollution and conflict It also contains timely material relating to significant issues affecting society today including the refugee crisis rising authoritarian nationalism and the risks and challenges of globalisation and sustainability This book will be of great interest for academics scholars and students in the fields of intercultural education sociology and the sociology of education

Crisis System Petter Naess, Leigh Price, 2016-06-17 This book throws light onto the nature and causes of three different but strongly interconnected crises in contemporary societies worldwide an economic crisis an ecological crisis and a normative moral and political crisis These crises are reflected in the profoundly inequitable distribution of wealth resources and life opportunities around the world If we follow the causal roots of these crises we are led back to an inherent dynamic in the capitalist economic system itself discursively expressed as neoclassical mainstream economics For instance by conflating human needs with market demand mainstream economics disregards the needs of those who do not have sufficient purchasing power as well as any needs that cannot be quantified or monetised in some way Mainstream economics also ignores the notion of natural limits Furthermore it seems that everything that is quantifiable is potentially for sale and this results in the substitution of nature indigenous cultural traditions and various life forms with commodities and human capital The latter is defined as the skills instrumental for continual economic growth Besides critiquing the academic discipline of economics this book also points to a number of dysfunctional and crisis prone structures and practices of substantive economic life It will be of interest to students and scholars working in philosophy economics and environmental studies

What Can I Do to Help Heal the Environmental Crisis? Haydn Washington, 2019-10-01 The culmination of over three decades of writing by environmental scientist and writer Haydn Washington this book examines the global environmental crisis and its solutions Many of us know that something is wrong with our world that it is wounded At the same time we often don't know why things have gone wrong or what can be done Framing the discussion around three central predicaments the ecological the social and the economic Washington provides background as to why each of these are in crisis and presents steps that individuals can personally take to heal the world Urging the reader to accept the reality of our problems he explores practical solutions for change such as the transition to renewable energy rejection of climate denial and the championing of appropriate technology as well as a readjustment in ethical approaches The book also contains 19 solution boxes by distinguished environmental scholars With a focus on positive personal solutions this book is an essential read for students and scholars of environmental science and environmental philosophy and for all those keen to heal

the world and contribute towards a sustainable future

A Sense of Wonder Towards Nature Haydn

Washington, 2018-08-06 Environmental scientist and writer Haydn Washington argues that we will not solve the environmental crisis unless we change our worldview and ethics and to do so we must rejuvenate our sense of wonder at nature This book focuses on humanity's relation with nature and the sense of wonder and belonging common to indigenous cultures and children everywhere Drawing on events in the author's own four decades working to protect wild places and the current literature on wonder it examines what a sense of wonder is what it has been called in different cultures and our high points of wonder at nature It also looks at the Great Divide in worldview between anthropocentrism and ecocentrism and considers the problem of anthropocentric theory in academia arguing that the focus should instead be on harmony with nature The book concludes with an examination of why wonder has become buried in Western society and considers ways in which it can be revived including rituals and education It also considers how wonder helps humanity to become whole The final chapter presents the road back to wonder and how wonder towards nature can be restored in Western society This book will be of great interest to environmental scientists conservation biologists environmental philosophers and ecological ethicists as well as environmentalists educators eco psychologists and students looking at sustainability deep ecology and environmental philosophy and ethics

After the Anthropocene Anne

Fremaux, 2019-03-25 The environmental crisis is the most prominent challenge humanity has ever had to battle with and humanity is currently failing The Anthropocene or so called age of humans is indeed a period when the survival of humanity has never been so much at risk This book locates itself in the field of critical green political theory Fremaux's analysis of the current environmental crisis calls for us to embrace radical shifts in our modes of being or in other words socially progressive innovations that will be described within the unique framework of Green Republicanism In offering a constructive and emancipatory delineation of what could be considered an ecological civilization that is respectful of its natural environment and social differences this book describes how to shift from an arrogant speciesism and materialistic lifestyle to a post anthropocentric ecological humanism focusing on the good life within ecological limits This new political regime calls for a radical reinvention of our societies a decentering of the humans within our metaphysical worldview and a withdrawal of the capitalist technosphere at the benefit of the biosphere It will require a new economic paradigm that replaces the unsustainable capitalist logic of growth by sustainable degrowth and steady economics Rooted in ethical thinking and political philosophy this book seeks to offer a concrete roadmap of how sustainable societies can be fostered

Wildlife Trade and Animal Victimization Ragnhild Aslaug

Sollund, 2025-03-31 This book examines the trade in nonhuman animals of endangered wild species Wildlife trafficking is after loss of habitat the biggest threat to many animal species and biodiversity This book draws on extensive empirical data from Norway to highlight the parallel legal and illegal markets the motivation of traders animal victimization the weaknesses of existing regulatory frameworks and the difficulties of legal enforcement As a long time signatory of the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora and a rich consumer country Norway provides the perfect case for investigating the consequences of legalising or banning wildlife trade The work applies a green non speciesist theoretical perspective to analyse empirical data covering approximately 350 cases as well as qualitative interviews with law enforcement agencies and confiscation reports from customs The book will be an essential resource for researchers and academics in green criminology global criminology environmental law and environmental studies It will also be of value to professionals working in wildlife and animal welfare policies and enforcement such as governmental and non governmental organizations

A World Not Made for Us Keith R. Peterson, 2020-09-01 In A World Not Made for Us Keith R Peterson provides a broad reassessment of the field of environmental philosophy taking a fresh and critical look at three classical problems of environmentalism the intrinsic value of nature the need for an ecological worldview and a new conception of the place of humankind in nature He makes the case that a genuinely critical environmental philosophy must adopt an ecological materialist conception of the human a pluralistic value theory that emphasizes the need for value prioritization and a stratified categorial ontology that affirms the basic principle of human asymmetrical dependence on more than human nature Integrating environmental ethics with the latest work in political ecology Peterson argues it is important to understand that the world is not made for us and that coming to terms with this fact is a condition for survival in future human and more than human communities of liberation and solidarity questions and answers regarding resistivity four point probes - Jan 08 2023

web the pressure of the 4 point probe needles invariably damages the crystal structure beneath the needles we suppose that such damage promotes ohmic contact by largely eliminating the rectifying diodes you mentioned q is there a difference between sheet resistance and sheet resistivity at least one author claims there is a four probe method aim iit roorkee - May 12 2023

web four probe method aim study the temperature dependence of resistivity of a semiconductor four probe method and to determine band gap of experimental material ge apparatus required four probe apparatus sample a ge crystal in form of a chip oven thermometer 260o constant power measurement of resistivity and determination of band gap using four - Apr 30 2022

web four probe method is one of the standard most commonly used method for the accurate measurement of resistivity it overcomes the problem of contact resistance and also offer several other advantages accurate resistivity measurement in samples having a variety of shapes is possible by this method resistivity by four probe method amrita vishwa vidyapeetham - Mar 10 2023

web four probe apparatus is one of the standard and most widely used apparatus for the measurement of resistivity of semiconductors this method is employed when the sample is in the form of a thin wafer such as a thin semiconductor material deposited on a substrate four probe method sheet resistance formula ossila - Mar 30 2022

web the primary technique for measuring sheet resistance is the four probe method also known as the kelvin technique which is performed using a four point probe a four point probe consists of four equally spaced co linear electrical probes as shown in the schematic below
