And Mediamorphosis Kafka Moving Shai Biderman:

Mediamorphosis Shai Biderman, Ido Lewit, 2016-02-26 The idea of a visual manifestation of the work of Franz Kafka was denied by many first and foremost by Kafka himself who famously urged his publisher to avoid an image of an insect on the cover of Metamorphosis. Be that as it may, it is unlikely that such a central progenitor of twentieth century art and thought as Kafka can be fully understood without reference to the revolutionary artistic medium of his century: cinema. Mediamorphosis compiles articles by some of today's leading forces in the scholarship of Kafka as well as film studies to provide a thorough investigation of the reciprocal relations between Kafka's work and the cinematic medium. The volume approaches the theoretical integration of Kafka and cinema via such issues as the cinematic qualities in Kafka's prose and the possibility of a visual manifestation of the Kafkaesque. Alongside these debates, the book investigates the capacity of cinema to incorporate and express the unique qualities of a Kafkaesque world through an analysis of cinematic adaptations of Kafka's prose such as Michael Haneke's The Castle (1997) and Straub-Huillet's Class Relations (1984) as well as films that carry a more subtle relation to Kafka's oeuvre such as the cinematic works of David Cronenberg, the films of the Coen brothers, Chris Marker's film essay Charlie Chaplin's Tramp and others. Kafkaesque Cinema Angelos Koutsourakis, 2024-05-31 For all its familiarity as a widely used term, the Kafkaesque cinema remains an often baffling concept that is poorly understood by film scholars. Taking a cue from Jorge Luis Borges' point that Kafka has modified our conception of past and future artists and Andre Bazin's suggestion that literary concepts and styles can exceed authors and the novels from which they emanate, this monograph proposes a comprehensive examination of Kafkaesque Cinema in order to understand it as part of a transnational cinematic tradition rooted in Kafka's critique of modernity which however extends beyond the Bohemian author's work and his historical experiences. Drawing on a range of disciplines in the Humanities including film, literary and theatre studies, critical theory and history, Kafkaesque Cinema will be the first full-length study of the subject and will be a useful resource for scholars and students interested in film theory, World Cinema, World Literature and politics and representation.

Investigating Franz Kafka's "Der Bau" Andrea Ebarb, 2023-04-27 In 2016 the Israeli Supreme Court ruled that Max Brod's posthumous papers, which included a collection of Kafka's manuscripts, be transferred to the National Library of Israel in Jerusalem. If Kafka's writings may be seen to belong to Jewish national culture and if they may be considered part of Israel's heritage, then their analysis within a Jewish framework should be both viable and valuable. This volume is dedicated to the research of Franz Kafka's late narrative The Burrow and its autobiographical and theological significance. Research is extended to incorporate many fields of study: architecture, sound studies, philosophy, cultural studies, Jewish studies, literary studies, to illustrate the dynamics at work within the text which reveal the Jewish aspects implicitly thematized. Examination of the structure created, the nature of sound perceived, the atmosphere experienced and the acts performed by the protagonist serve as the foundation of this analysis and offer new access to Kafka's work by presenting an interpretive space.

semantic approach Der Bau is presented as a life concept given the task of constituting identity highlighting the critical link between the literary and biographical Kafka and demonstrating the necessity of understanding the author as a Jewish writer to understand his late narrative For her outstanding research project Andrea Newsom Ebarb was awarded the Forschungspreis der Vereinigung der Freunde der Universität Mainz e V in 2023 Animal Narratology Joela Jacobs, 2020-12-15

Animal Narratology interrogates what it means to narrate to speak for on behalf of and to voice or represent life beyond the human which is in itself as different as insects bears and dogs are from each other and yet more as individual as a single mouse horse or puma The varied contributions to this interdisciplinary Special Issue highlight assumptions about the human perception of attitude toward and responsibility for the animals that are read and written about thus demonstrating that just as the animal does not exist neither does the human In their zoopoetic focus the analyses are aware that animal narratology ultimately always contains an approximation of an animal perspective in human terms and terminology yet they make clear that what matters is how the animal is approximated and that there is an effort to approach and encounter the non human in the first place Many of the analyses come to the conclusion that literary animals give readers the opportunity to expand their own points of view both on themselves and others by adopting another's perspective to the degree that such an endeavor is possible Ultimately the contributions call for a recognition of the many spaces moments and modes in which human lives are entangled with those of animals one of which is located within the creative bounds of storytelling Anna Seghers, 2019-11-11

Anna Seghers The Challenge of History features essays by leading scholars devoted to this most important German writer whose novels and stories have been read by millions worldwide The volume is intended for teachers and students of literature and for general readers The contributions address facets of Seghers's large body of work which is characterized by reflections on political events shaping world history and written in a highly imaginative array of narrative styles The first section focuses on the author's famous novel The Seventh Cross Articles in the next two sections analyze her reactions to crises that marked the twentieth century and her connections to other relevant thinkers of her time The last section features new translations of Seghers's works Transnational German Studies Rebecca Braun, Benedict Schofield, 2020-07-17

This volume consists of a series of essays written by leading scholars within the field demonstrating the types of inquiry that can be pursued into the transnational realities underpinning German language culture and history as these travel right around the globe Contributions discuss the inherent cross pollination of different languages times places and notions of identity within German language cultures and the ways in which their construction and circulation cannot be contained by national or linguistic borders In doing so it is not the aim of the volume to provide a compendium of existing transnational approaches to German Studies or to offer its readers a series of survey chapters on different fields of study to date Instead it offers novel research led chapters that pose a question a problem or an issue through which contemporary and historical transcultural and transnational processes can be seen at work Accordingly each essay isolates a specific area of study and opens it up for exploration providing readers especially student readers not just with examples of transnational phenomena in German language cultures but also with models of how research in these areas can be configured and pursued

From Doors to Screens Assistant Professor Ido Lewit, Ido Lewit, 2026-04 Reveals how objects and technologies function as discursive agents in film with formal narrative and argumentative consequences From Doors to Screens treats filmic representations of non filmic technologies as potentially meaningful intermedial encounters wherein the objects and media represented interact with the basic characteristics of film in ways that affect cinematic expression meaning making and argumentation Focusing on doors clocks gramophones and video screens in films by Ernst Lubitsch Fritz Lang Werner Herzog Michael Haneke and others the book reveals how these objects and technologies function as discursive agents with formal narrative and argumentative consequences Applying media theory to film analysis the book proposes a novel methodology for the close reading of films offering an alternative to more common symbolic and metaphorical interpretations
