I whispered to Major E., who was sitting on the other side of me, to ask if it would be wrong to step out of the house to look at these gorgeous people, as I had missed all the other opportunities of seeing them; and the old Maharajah did not wait to have the question explained—he delights to show off his soldiers. He jumped up, and took hold of my hand, and ambled

Then Ranjeet asked if there was anybody present who could drink wine as well as Sir W. C., and I said, for fun, "Mr. A. could;" upon which there was a general cry for A., and poor Mr. A. was accommodated with a chair in front of all the circle, and Ranjeet began plying him with glasses of that fiery spirit he drinks himself. Mr. A. is at present living strictly on toast and water! However, he contrived to empty the glass on the carpet occasionally. That carpet must have presented a horrible scene when we went. I know that under my own chair I deposited two broiled quails, an apple, a pear, a great lump of sweetmeat, and some pomegranate seeds, which Ranjeet gave me with his dirty fingers into my hand, which, of course, became last.

The Pleasures of Reading Catherine Sheldrick

Ross, 2014-06-27 Based on years of ground breaking research this book supplies a look at the unique relationship between each text and the individual reader that results in a satisfying pleasurable and even life changing reading experience

Following up on her critically acclaimed Reading Matters: What the Research Reveals about Reading Libraries and Community Catherine Sheldrick Ross takes a new look at pleasure reading through 30 thought provoking essays based on themes arranged from A to Z. In short lively chapters she discusses topics ranging from Alexia Bad Reading and Changing Lives to Romance Fiction Self help Titles Vampires and Year of Reading Drawing on her own research as well as other published sources Ross comments on the significance of each theme provides examples of the phenomenon and develops the topic chronologically through further examples or through reversals. The essays are unified by an underlying theory of reading that views readers as sense makers actively engaged in reading themselves into the text and reading the texts back into their own lives. It gives educators and librarians insights into their roles with readers and offers a message about the importance of pleasure reading. A short list of resources for further reading is supplied with each topic

Creating and Promoting Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries Donna L. Gilton, 2016-06-21 Creating and Promoting Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries: Tools and Tips For Practitioners is the sequel to Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries: Principles, Programs, and People. On the one hand Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries focuses on the information needs and the developmental and psychological characteristics of diverse library users of all ages. It endorses the use of ILI to promote lifelong learning in public libraries both by borrowing techniques from academic and school libraries and by building on existing public library traditions of programming and outreach. This book also compares lifelong learning in public libraries to informal and nonformal education in museums, community organizations, and agencies, places of worship, and other organizations. In addition Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries describes basic steps that librarians can execute in order to get started. On the other hand Creating and Promoting Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries focuses much more on how public librarians can specifically plan and implement their instruction with chapters on planning for instruction using teaching methodologies, teaching with and about technology, and bringing ILI together with more traditional public library services, programming, and activities such as reference and Readers Advisory services, bibliotherapy, and cultural and literacy programming. Changes in ILI standards and comparisons of ILI with basic reading media, digital, and cultural literacies are also described. Both books together should act as basic manuals for public librarians who promote lifelong learning.

Creating and Promoting Lifelong Learning in Public Libraries

Learning in Public Libraries also have helpful teaching hints for all librarians and other professionals who teach in a variety of settings Readers' Advisory Service in North American Public Libraries, 1870-2005 Juris Dilevko, Candice F.C.

Magowan, 2007-02-13 Beginning in the early 1980s readers advisory services were a widely discussed topic in North American public libraries. By 2005 almost every public library in the United States and Canada offered some form of readers advisory service. The services offered have changed significantly in ways perhaps disadvantageous to adult North American library patrons. This book provides a critical history of readers advisory philosophy and offers a new perspective on the evolution of the service. The book analyzes the debate that shaped readers advisory and discusses how the service has assumed its present form. The study follows readers advisory through its three prominent stages of development beginning with the period 1870 to 1916 when the service was still a subject of much crucial debate about its meaning and purpose. During the second phase 1917 to 1962 readers advisory systematically committed itself to meaningful adult education through serious and purposeful reading. The book argues however that during the most recent phase of readers advisory from 1963 until the present contemporary public libraries have turned their backs on the rich heritage of readers advisory services by valorizing the reading of entertainment oriented and commodified genre titles and bestsellers. Historical analysis, case studies and statistical charts augment the book's central argument.

Running Book Discussion Groups Lauren Zina John, 2006 Oprah The Today Show Live With Regis and Kelly. Their book clubs attract millions and send hordes of readers to the library. Your library may not be able to hold millions but there's no reason your discussion group can't be every bit as popular and appreciated as those on TV. This unique manual shows you step by step how to build, improve and maintain successful engaging book discussion groups. Chapters answer the fundamental questions: How do you build membership? Choose the right titles? Schedule and arrange meetings? Develop questions? Get free or discounted books? Provide an inviting atmosphere and setting? Planning, publicity, facilitating discussions, programming techniques and assessment are discussed in detail. Essential advice on programming includes 15 ready to use discussion guides, One Book One City program ideas, online forums, title selection and more. Any library starting or running book discussion groups will want this practical guide by their side.
