Book Practices Textual Itineraries Production:

Compiling Texts in Eighteenth-Century Britain Rebeca Araya Acosta, 2024-08-23 This book argues that the act of compiling texts together into collections in the eighteenth century is politically and epistemologically significant Focusing on the reception of Scottish Enlightenment ideas and ranging across an Edinburgh print shop an excluded religious community in the North of England and the story worlds of novelists and poets the study reveals compilation to be a politically resistant activity it challenged centralizing and homogenizing tendencies within the growing British empire in the latter half of the eighteenth century and actively built counternarratives Rebeca Araya Acosta offers a fresh view of eighteenth century literary transaction and shows how practices of compilation in the period were more diversified and had a far greater impact on readers than their modern descendants

The Routledge Companion to the British and North American Literary Magazine Tim Lanzendörfer, 2021-12-30 Encompassing a broad definition of the topic this Companion provides a survey of the literary magazine from its earliest days to the contemporary moment It offers a comprehensive theorization of the literary magazine in the wake of developments in periodical studies in the last decade bringing together a wide variety of approaches and concerns With its distinctive chronological and geographical scope this volume sheds new light on the possibilities and difficulties of the concept of the literary magazine balancing a comprehensive overview of key themes and examples with greater attention to new approaches to magazine research Divided into three main sections this book offers Theory it investigates definitions and limits of what a literary magazine is and what it does History and regionalism a very broad historical and geographic sweep draws new connections and offers expanded definitions Case studies these range from key modernist little magazines and the popular middlebrow to pulp fiction comics and digital ventures widening the ambit of the literary magazine The Routledge Companion to the British and North American Literary Magazine offers new and unforeseen cross connections across the long history of literary periodicals highlighting the ways in which it allows us to trace such ideas as the literary as well as notions of what magazines do in a culture

Writing History from the Margins Claire Parfait, Hélène Le Dantec-Lowry, Claire Bourhis-Mariotti, 2016-09-13 With contributions from leading American and European scholars this collection of original essays surveys the actors and the modes of writing history from the margins of society focusing specifically on African Americans Nearly 100 years after The Journal of Negro History was founded this book assesses the legacy of the African American historians mostly amateur historians initially who wrote the history of their community between the 1830s and World War II Subsequently the growth of the civil rights movement further changed historical paradigms and the place of African Americans and that of black writers in publishing and in the historical profession Through slavery and segregation self educated and formally educated Blacks wrote works of history often in order to inscribe African Americans within the main historical narrative of the nation with a two fold objective to make African Americans proud of their past and to enable them to fight against white prejudice Over the past decade historians have turned to the study of these pioneers but a number of issues remain to be considered This anthology will contribute to answering several key questions concerning who published these books and how were they distributed read and received Little has been written concerning what they reveal about the construction of professional history in the nineteenth century when examined in relation to other writings by Euro Americans working in an academic setting or as independent researchers

Greeks, Books and Libraries in Renaissance Venice Rosa Maria Piccione, 2020-11-09 What does writing Greek books mean at the height of the Cinquecento in Venice The present volume provides fascinating insights into Greek language book production at a time when printed books were already at a rather advanced stage of development with regards to requests purchases and exchanges of books copying and borrowing practices relations among intellectuals and with institutions and much more Based on the investigation into selected institutional and private libraries in particular the book collection of Gabriel Severos guide of the Greek Confraternity in Venice the authors present new pertinent evidence from Renaissance books and documents discuss methodological questions and propose innovative research perspectives for a sociocultural approach to book histories

British Literature and Print Culture Sandro Jung, 2013 The essays collected here offer examinations of bibliographical matters publishing practices the illustration of texts in a variety of engraved media little studied print culture genres the critical and editorial fortunes of individual works and the significance of the complex interrelationships that authors entertained with booksellers publishers and designers They investigate how all these relationships affected the production of print commodities and how all the agents involved in the making of books contributed to the cultural literacy of readers and the formation of a canon of literary texts Specific topics include a bibliographical study of Aphra Behn s Oroonoko and its editions from its first publication to the present day the illustrations of John Bunyan s Pilgrim s Progress and the ways in which the interpretive matrices of book illustration conditioned the afterlife and reception of Bunyan s work the almanac and the subscription edition publishing history collecting reading and textual editing especially of Robert Burns s poems and James Thomson s The Seasons the printing for the author practice the illustrated and material existence of Sir Walter Scott s Waverley novels and the Victorian periodical The Athenaeum P 4 of cover
