One important new finding, and one which has been frequently pointed out, is that older women are probably more efficient than younger women in the use of their ovaries and therefore have a longer life expectancy. Considering only living women, those from 40 to 49 years of age have a greater probability of survival than women in any other age group. Women aged 50 to 59 years have a 90 per cent probability of surviving another 20 years, while women aged 60 to 69 years have an 80 per cent probability of surviving another 15 years. Women aged 70 to 79 years have a 60 per cent probability of surviving another 10 years, while women aged 80 to 89 years have a 40 per cent probability of surviving another 5 years.

Summer Genre Challenge

Throughout the summer, the biggest challenge involved was determining the timing of our various stages of growth. By extension of these challenges, we had to determine
