The Great American Education-Industrial Complex Anthony G. Picciano, Joel Spring, 2013-05-07 The Great American Education Industrial Complex examines the structure and nature of national networks and enterprises that seek to influence public education policy in accord with their own goals and objectives In the past twenty years significant changes have taken place in the way various interest groups seek to influence policies and practices in public education in the United States No longer left to the experience and knowledge of educators American education has become as much the domain of private organizations corporate entities and political agents who see it as a market for their ideas technologies and ultimately profits Picciano and Spring posit that educational technology is the vehicle whereby these separate movements organizations and individuals have become integrated in a powerful common entity and detail how the educational industrial complex has grown and strengthened its position of influence This timely carefully documented well argued book brings together Picciano s perspective and expertise in the field of technology and policy issues and Spring s in the history and politics of education in a unique critical analysis of the education industrial complex and its implications for the future Education Networks Joel Spring,2012-03-22

Education Networks is a critical analysis of the emerging intersection among the global power elite information and communication technology and schools Joel Spring documents and examines the economic and political interests and forces including elite networks the for profit education industry data managers and professional educators that are pushing the use of ICT for online instruction test preparation and tutoring data management instructional software packages and more and looks closely at the impact this is having on schools students and learning Making a distinction between mind as socially constructed and brain as a physiological entity Spring draws on recent findings from comparative psychology on the possible effects of ICT on the social construction of the minds of students and school managers and from neuroscience regarding its effect on students brains Throughout the influence of elite networks and powerful interest groups is linked to what is happening to children in classrooms In conclusion Spring offers bold suggestions to change the course of the looming technological triumph of ICT in the brave new world of schooling Chain Store Age ,2010 Fodor's Arizona & the
