This book presents new media applications for teaching as well as new methodologies to help students with special needs. An investigation of the effectiveness of multimedia computer assisted instruction is presented. The needs of the autistic are addressed in this book as well with attention given to the use of Virtual Reality applications that may improve the learning training and quality of life of people with autism as well as other learning difficulties. Musculoskeletal diseases such as rheumatoid and osteoarthritis are some of the major causes of chronic disability. Education is considered to be an integral part of their treatment equipping patients to cope with the different stages of these progressive diseases. Continued development and innovative use of new media will most likely broaden its appeal and enhance their educational efficacy.

Managing Classroom Behavior James M. Kauffman, 2011. For courses in Classroom Management and Behavior Management. This popular case based text applies behavior management principles to classroom teaching with an emphasis on analyzing behavior management as an instructional problem. Managing Classroom Behavior summarizes principles of good instruction, the acting out cycle and how to work with students, other teachers and parents. Based on empirical research and illustrated with numerous examples, this text gives students practice in applying principles of behavior management through the analysis of actual case studies, self questioning and reflection. The fifth edition features a new chapter on planning for the school year and managing the physical environment, a new feature which makes direct and explicit links between chapters in Part I and specific cases in Part II, revised and updated case studies with the inclusion of all case descriptions now in the text, reorganized inclusion of APA references and the APA Style Guide and all chapters have gone through a thorough revision process. This concise, clearly written case based text is appropriate for both general and special educators in training or in service.

The Inclusive Classroom Margo A. Mastropieri, Thomas E. Scruggs, 2010. This text offers a wealth of practical and proven strategies for successfully including students with disabilities in general education classrooms. The text provides targeted strategies for the subject and skill areas as well as special needs of individual students with a strong focus on instructional strategies applied to specific student need areas. An overall theme of effective differentiated instruction is infused throughout the text relating to those practices that are most closely aligned with academic success. The text is unique in its three part coverage of 1) the fundamentals of teaching students with special needs, 2) effective general teaching practices and 3) inclusive practices in specific subject areas. With a strong focus on instructional strategies and how they are applied to specific student need areas, the text goes further by featuring more specific strategies than any other text and extensive information about the most effective strategies available and when and how to use them. This strong focus instructs pre service teachers and other education personnel on how they can implement in the classroom specific strategies to address a very wide range of grade levels, skill levels, academic content areas and extensive and very specific information on strategies teachers can use in the areas of most concern to them, e.g. behavior management, handling student confrontations, promoting literacy, memory for school content, motivation to learn, maintaining student attention, adapting assessment and improving test scores and specific strategies for adapting specific lessons in math science social studies and career and technical education Specifically written for pre service or in service special education teachers who will work with general education teachers in K 12 classrooms the text is also relevant for school psychologists counselors support staff and other school personnel interested in helping all students succeed in the classroom
