Indian Ocean Futures Timothy Doyle, Graham Seal, 2018-04-19 Indian Ocean studies which once lagged behind studies of the Atlantic and the Pacific is an important emerging academic field which has come into its own. In the next fifty years the Indian Ocean Region will become very significant as a result of enormous demographic changes. What was the Ocean of the South is rapidly becoming the Ocean of the Centre the Ocean of the Future. Curtin University Western Australia has a long and distinguished history of engagement with the Indian Ocean region and with Indian Ocean Studies and its Australia Asia Pacific Institute of Curtin University continues to maintain a focus on the Indian Ocean past present and future. This book examines a number of themes emerging from its 2014 Conference entitled Indian Ocean Futures which attracted some of the best Indian Ocean region scholars. The conference connected humanities social sciences and scientific disciplines this book collects some of the preeminent works focused on geo strategic cultural environmental security and human security themes. The book is also an important contribution to the building of academic diplomacy in the region that is to say it contributes to region building by creating epistemic communities and networks between government the private sector and academia throughout the region. Through the pursuit of academic diplomacy academics are capable of pursuing research goals which enhance governmental business and civil society objectives of the day. This book was previously published as a special issue of the Journal of the Indian Ocean Region.

Burj Khalifa Orin Brightfield, AI, 2025-02-19 Burj Khalifa examines the world's tallest building through the lens of architecture economics and social impact. It explores how Dubai's ambition to diversify its economy beyond oil fueled the creation of this architectural marvel. The book highlights the innovative engineering solutions required to reach unprecedented heights and analyzes the political motivations driving its construction. One intriguing aspect is how the Burj Khalifa has reshaped Dubai's identity as a global hub attracting international investment and tourism. The book approaches the subject by first setting the historical context of Dubai's development and the evolution of skyscraper design. It then progresses through the key stages of the Burj Khalifa's creation including a detailed look at the architectural and engineering challenges the economic and political factors and the social and cultural impact on Dubai. The book argues that the Burj Khalifa's success is measured not only by its height but also by its role in reshaping Dubai's identity and its impact on global architectural possibilities. The structure of the book moves from initial concepts to the building's impact making it valuable for those interested in architecture urban planning and the broader forces that shape our world. It provides insights into the intersection of architecture economics and society offering a comprehensive understanding of this iconic structure.

In particular in the United Arab Emirates this industry has experienced a constant growth over the course of the last few years. Driven by the UAE's oil wealth the country has witnessed an unmatched development and transformation. Oil revenues have led to a driving construction boom and completely changed the face of the state. The construction industry is still one of the engines of economic growth in the UAE. One of the highest concentrations of cranes in the world speaks volumes about the incredible pace of construction taking place particularly in Dubai and Abu Dhabi but also in the other emirates The fact that about 30 000 or 24 percent of the world's 125 000 construction cranes are currently operating in the region speaks for itself The UAE's construction projects stands out clearly from building projects in other parts of the world due to the fact that there is no constraint on constructional imagination and there is no place in the world where construction moves as fast as in the UAE With some of the most innovative mega projects such as Burj Khalifa the tallest building in the world or The Palm Jumeirah The Palm Jebel Ali and The Palm Deira the world's largest man made islands with epithets of world's biggest best and tallest the UAE construction industry remains unbeaten The construction industry is a complex environment in which each organization is faced with numerous opportunities and threats This book provides an in depth analysis of the fast growing construction industry in the UAE while scanning the construction business for opportunities and threats This book implements the PESTEL analysis that will be used to analyze the UAE's construction industry The main objective of the research reported in this book is to identify the factors in the macro environment that might affect an organization Having the PESTEL context this output is used to execute a SWOT analysis The PESTEL factors combined with external micro environmental factors are classified as opportunities and threats in a SWOT analysis Thus this research also aims to identify the opportunities and threats in the construction business This study does not assess company's internal strengths and weaknesses Through strategic analysis of the UAE's construction business this book creates an adequate framework that helps participants of the construction business to take advantage of opportunities while protecting them from threats
