This volume consists of papers presented at the Fourth International Workshop on Computer Aided Scheduling of Public Transport which was held in Hamburg from 28th to 31st July 1987 The first of this series of Workshops was held in Chicago in 1975 Papers presented then tended to look forward to what might be done in the future application of computers to problems in transit scheduling No presentations described systems which had been implemented and were being used on a regular basis although a few papers discussed apparently successful once off applications in both bus scheduling and bus crew scheduling or run cutting However within a few months of the end of that first workshop some systems had been implemented both in Europe and in North America By the time of the second Workshop in Leeds in 1980 several systems were in regular use Most of the crew scheduling implementations were based on heuristic methods e g RUCUS although mathematically based methods were being used in Quebec City and in Hamburg and several papers described further mathematical methods in the course of development A wide variety of bus scheduling approaches was reported many of them being in regular use      The Mediated City Stephen Coleman,Nancy Thumim,Chris Birchall,Julie Firmstone,Giles Moss,Katy Parry,Judith Stamper,Jay G. Blumler,2016-08-15 How does news circulate in a major post industrial city And how in turn are identities and differences formed and mediated through this circulation This seminal work is the first to offer an empirical examination and trace a city s pattern of news circulation Encompassing a comprehensive range of practices involved in producing circulating and consuming news and recognizing the various ways in which individuals and groups may find out follow and discuss local issues and events The Mediated City critiques thinking that takes the centrality of certain news media as an unquestioned starting point By doing so it opens up a discussion do we know what news is What types of media constitute it And why does it matter      Subject Index of Modern Books Acquired
