Essential Readings in Health Behavior: Theory and Practice Mark Edberg, 2009-07-01

The Uncharted Path from Clinic-based to Community-based Research Bonita Stanton, Jennifer Galbraith, Linda Kaljee, 2008 Community based health related research requires a reciprocal relationship between researchers and communities that differs from the relationships established in clinic based health related research In the former not only is there a direct relationship with the individual as there is in clinic based research but an equally important and constantly changing relationship with the community Also in community based research relationships change from that in which individuals are subjects of research to the same individuals as participants or partners in the research process These academic community relationships are especially complex because frequently the community does not speak with a single voice and may have multiple different constituencies and perspectives In addition research teams comprised of several disciplines may be perceived as coming from unique academic communities which of themselves may have different ways of envisioning community based research There is a recent call for more transdisciplinary research and yet there are limited empirical studies available which critically examine how disciplines work separately and in tangent to affect community based research This book will be used both by researchers and by those teaching upper graduate level and graduate level health education

Essentials of Community-based Research Vera Caine, Judy Mill, 2016-09-16 Community based research CBR is the most commonly used method for serving community needs and effecting change through authentic ethical and meaningful social research In this brief introduction to CBR the real world approach of noted experts Vera Caine and Judy Mill helps novice researchers understand the promise and perils of engaging in this research tradition This book outlines the basic steps and issues in the CBR process from collaboratively designing and conducting the research with community members to building community capacity covers how to negotiate complicated questions of researcher control and ethics includes a chapter written by community partners among the examples from numerous projects from around the world Methods in Community-Based Participatory Research for Health Barbara A. Israel, 2005-07-07 Written by distinguished experts in the field this book shows how researchers practitioners and community partners can work together to establish and maintain equitable partnerships using a Community Based Participatory Research CBPR approach to increase knowledge and improve health and well being of the communities involved CBPR is a collaborative approach to research that draws on the full range of research designs including case study etiologic longitudinal experimental and nonexperimental designs CBPR data collection and analysis methods involve both quantitative and qualitative approaches What distinguishes CBPR from other approaches to research is the active engagement of all partners in the process This book provides a comprehensive and thorough presentation of CBPR study designs specific data collection and analysis methods and innovative partnership structures and process methods This book informs students practitioners researchers and community members about methods and applications needed to conduct CBPR in the widest range of research areas including social determinants of health health disparities health promotion community interventions disease management health services and environmental health Community-based Activism Within an Environmental Justice Frame Joseph William Dorsey, 2001

Community-Based Research and Higher Education Kerry Strand, 2003-05-30 Community Based Research and Higher Education is the long awaited guide to how to incorporate a powerful and promising new form of scholarship into academic settings The book presents a model of community based research CBR that engages community members with students and faculty in the course of their academic work Unlike traditional academic research CBR is collaborative and change oriented and finds its research questions in the needs of communities This dynamic research model combines classroom learning with social action in ways that can ultimately empower community groups to address their own agendas and shape their own futures At the same time it emphasizes the development of knowledge and skills that truly prepare students for active civic engagement Community Based Research and Higher Education is written by five academics from different disciplines with extensive experience in community based research as teachers researchers administrators scholars and community activists They draw on their own and others experience to develop concrete guidelines for creating and sustaining partnerships through CBR projects as they also outline the principles that guide decisions about research design and methods The authors offer extensive practical suggestions for incorporating CBR into courses and curricula include voices and experiences of people from across the country who are doing CBR on their campuses and in their communities and describe a wide range of exemplary research projects with diverse community partners such as the Southwest Improvement Council in Denver Washington D C s Council of Latino Agencies and Youthbuild a job training program based in New Jersey The authors conclude by detailing a series of action steps that can help institutions realize a vision of higher education based on research oriented campus community partnerships Community Demand Study for the Essential Services for Health in Ethiopia Project Karabi Bhattacharyya,1997 Based on a survey in nine villages conducted in 1995 assesses community demand for curative and preventive health services National Institute on Drug Abuse Research Monograph Series: Drug Abuse Among Minority Youth: Advances in Research and Methodology ,1993

Transnational Networks and Community-based Organizations Nielan Barnes,2005 Handbook of Feminist Research Sharlene Nagy Hesse-Biber,2007 The topic feminist research has too often been neglected in standard research methods books The Handbook of Feminist Research represents the establishment of a new tradition or paradigm in viewing how the research process is implemented Feminist researchers bring unique epistemological and methodological perspectives to the research process Feminists approach to methodology allows for new types of questions about women s lives and those of other ed marginalized groups to be addressed within their respective fields of research This Handbook stresses the interconnections between epistemology methodology and methods They are not de linked from each other but work together in dynamic ways to produce new knowledge and this openness itself is also characteristic of how feminist researchers approach their work Feminists engage synergistically with all three aspects of the research process epistemology methodology and method Through a synergistic connection between these elements of research epistemology methodology and method we find that feminist research often shapes new research endeavors that are greater than the sum of their parts In other words while traditional research employs these components of research the synergistic engagement of these components in feminist research questions the status quo aiming to raise our consciousness about how we do research Looking at the selections provided in this Handbook we are able to look at feminist research its implementation of synergistic use of epistemology methodology and method and the resulting qualities of feminist research in practice Foundations of Community Health Nursing Marcia Stanhope,Jeanette Lancaster,2002 This new concise community health nursing text draws all the essential must know information from the popular text COMMUNITY AND PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING by the same authors into one accessible streamlined resource It offers the same community oriented focus with an emphasis on health promotion and disease prevention highlighting practical applications throughout Separate sections are devoted to key aspects of community health nursing including the roles a community health nurse might undertake family and individual care and care of vulnerable populations Annual Review of Public Health Jonathan E. Fielding,1998 Presents 24 articles discussing a variety of issues in public health related to epidemiology and biostatistics environmental and occupational health public health practice behavior and health services Some of the topics discusses include the politics and policies related to youth access to tobacco environmental risk factors in female breast cancer chemoprevention of lung cancer evaluating the cost effectiveness of clinical and public health measures preventing youth violence prevention of bicycle related injuries mental health and managed care organizational diversification in American hospitals strategies to reduce driving under the influence of alcohol and public health in Central and Eastern Europe and the role of environmental pollution Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Participatory Innovation and Research Ethiopian Society of Animal Production.
