Borderlands Emmanuel Brunet-Jailly, 2007-05-05 Border security has been high on public policy agendas in Europe and North America since the September 11 2001 attacks on the World Trade Centre in New York City and on the headquarters of the American military in Washington DC Governments are now confronted with managing secure borders a policy objective that in this era of increased free trade and globalization must compete with intense cross border flows of people and goods Border security policies must enable security personnel to identify or filter out dangerous individuals and substances from among the millions of travelers and tons of goods that cross borders daily particularly in large cross border urban regions This book addresses this gap between security needs and an understanding of borders and borderlands Specifically the chapters in this volume ask policy makers to recognize that two fundamental elements define borders and borderlands first human activities the agency and agent power of individual ties and forces spanning a border and second the broader social processes that frame individual action such as market forces government activities law regulations and policies and the regional culture and politics of a borderland Borders emerge as the historically and geographically variable expression of human ties exercised within social structures of varying force and influence and it is the interplay and interdependence between people's incentives to act and the surrounding structures i.e. constructed social processes that contain and constrain individual action that determine the effectiveness of border security policies This book argues that the nature of borders is to be porous which is a problem for security policy makers It shows that when for economic cultural or political reasons human activities increase across a border and borderland governments need to increase cooperation and collaboration with regard to security policies if only to avoid implementing mismatched security policies Published in English Indigenous Borderlands Joaquín Rivaya-Martínez, 2023-04-20 Pervasive myths of European domination and indigenous submission in the Americas receive an overdue corrective in this far reaching revisionary work Despite initial upheavals caused by the European intrusion Native people often thrived after contact preserving their sovereignty territory and culture and shaping indigenous borderlands across the hemisphere Borderlands in this context are spaces where diverse populations interact cross cultural exchanges are frequent and consequential and no polity or community holds dominion Within the indigenous borderlands of the Americas as this volume shows Native peoples exercised considerable power often retaining control of the land and remaining paramount agents of historical transformation after the European incursion Conversely European conquest and colonialism were typically slow and incomplete as the newcomers struggled to assert their authority and implement policies designed to subjugate Native societies and change their beliefs and practices Indigenous Borderlands covers a wide chronological and geographical span from the sixteenth century U.S. South to twentieth century Bolivia and gathers leading scholars from the United States and Latin America Drawing on previously untapped or underutilized primary sources the original essays in this volume document the resilience and relative success of indigenous communities commonly and wrongly thought to have been subordinated by colonial forces or even vanished as well as the persistence of indigenous borderlands within territories claimed by people of European descent Indeed numerous indigenous groups remain culturally distinct and politically autonomous Hemispheric in its scope unique in its approach this work significantly recasts our understanding of the important roles played by Native agents in constructing indigenous borderlands in the era of European imperialism Chapters 5 6 8 and 9 are published with generous support from the Americas Research Network The 'Borderland muse' [verse]. Lewis Proudlock (miner.),1896 The Borderland of the Supernatural Levi White,1905 Borderland Identities Madeleine Hurd,2006 A History of the Herefordshire Borderland Robert Hudson George,1914 Dawson's illustrated guide to the Borderland; including the angler's note-book for the Tweed William Dawson (publisher.),1885 The Border-land of Epilepsy William Richard Gowers,1907 Borderland Narratives Andrew K. Frank,A. Glenn Crothers,2019-04-16 Broadening the idea of borderlands beyond its traditional geographic meaning this volume features new ways of characterizing the political cultural religious and racial fluidity of early America It extends the concept to regions not typically seen as borderlands and demonstrates how the term has been used in recent years to describe unstable spaces where people cultures and viewpoints collide The essays include an exploration of the diplomacy and motives that led colonial and Native leaders in the Ohio Valley including those from the Shawnee and Cherokee to cooperate and form coalitions a contextualized look at the relationship between African Americans and Seminole Indians on the Florida borderlands and an assessment of the role that animal husbandry played in the economies of southeastern Indians An essay on the experiences of those who disappeared in the early colonial southwest highlights the magnitude of destruction on these emergent borderlands and features a fresh perspective on Cabeza de Vaca Yet another essay examines the experiences of French missionary priests in the trans Appalachian West adding a new layer of understanding to places ordinarily associated with the evangelical Protestant revivals of the Second Great Awakening Collectively these essays focus on marginalized peoples and reveal how their experiences and decisions lie at the center of the history of borderlands They also look at the process of cultural mixing and the crossing of religious and racial boundaries A timely assessment of the dynamic field of borderland studies Borderland Narratives argues that the interpretive model of borders is essential to understanding the history of colonial North America A volume in the series Contested Boundaries edited by Gene Allen Smith Contributors Andrew Frank A Glenn Crothers Rob Harper Tyler Boulware Carla Gerona Rebekah M K Mergenthal Michael Pasquier Philip Mulder Julie Winch Transnational Narcotics Trafficking across Vietnam Borderland and Lao People's Democratic Republic Hai Thanh Luong,2017-06-21 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2017 in the subject Law Criminal process Criminology Law Enforcement grade A language English abstract Close proximity to the major production zones porous borderlands mountainous frontiers and long coastlines offer advantageous conditions for trafficking narcotics The illicit drug situation has become much more complex in Vietnam with the growth in amphetamine type stimulants production and trade Even so empirical research and analysis of the organization and operation of transnational narcotics trafficking TransNT remains limited The purpose of this thesis is to present the first detailed inquiry into the nature of TransNT across the border between Lao People s Democratic Republic PDR and Vietnam using an exploratory approach which draws upon qualitative and quantitative methods In particular the thesis presents findings from case studies of cross border trafficking between Vietnam and Lao PDR in the period of 2003 2013 combined with interview and survey data from criminal investigation police and drug related crimes officers CIPDRC from six border provinces who are directly and indirectly involved in investigating these cases The findings of this study indicate that drug markets in Vietnam are not controlled by monopolistic hierarchical organizations or cartels The structures of TransNT entities operating across the Lao Vietnam border are small based on family ties and fellow countrymen relations are fluid and loosely organized They are very adaptable and sophisticated with diverse modus operandi and multiple divisions of labour This presents particular challenges to law enforcement agencies LAEs This thesis questions to capacity of Vietnam s police to enforce the government s zero tolerance anti narcotics policy The study highlights practical problems and specific barriers in combating TransNT LEAs in Vietnam and Lao PDR operate without effective mechanisms to cooperate and share information It is also the case that traffickers often have more sophisticated equipment at their disposal to help them avoid arrest Police forces work within national structures and yet are faced with the task of combatting transnational crime This reality affects law enforcement capacity at a national as well as regional level but Association of the Southeast Asian Nations member states have yet to establish effective structures for dealing with this non traditional security challenge Based on these findings therefore the thesis proposes recommendations to enhancing the effectiveness of LEAs to combat TransNT between Vietnam and Lao PDR

Antifeminism and Family Terrorism Rhonda Hammer,2002 Rhonda Hammer s Antifeminism and Family Terrorism presents original and provocative critical feminist perspectives on violence against women and children Hammer provides a clear and insightful analysis of the current rhetoric produced by antifeminists who would deny the seriousness of the problem and thus undercut important feminist concerns Dr Hammer documents the tragic dimensions of the brutalization of women and children in the family and the larger problem of the increasing poverty and oppression of women and children in the global economy

Nature Exposed Jennifer Tucker,2013-08-15 In Nature Exposed Jennifer Tucker studies the intersecting trajectories of photography and modern science in late Victorian Britain She examines the role of photograph as witness in scientific investigation and explores the interplay between photography and scientific authority Almost immediately after the invention of photography in 1839 photographs were characterized as offering objective access to reality unmediated by human agency political ties or philosophy This mechanical objectivity supposedly eliminated judgment and interpretation in reporting and picturing scientific results But photography is a labor intensive process that allows for and sometimes requires manipulation In the late nineteenth century the nature of this new technology sparked a complex debate about scientific practices and the value of the photographic images in the production and dissemination of scientific knowledge Recovering the controversies and commentary surrounding the early creation of scientific photography and drawing on a wide range of new sources and critical theories Tucker establishes a greater understanding of the rich visual culture of Victorian science and alternative forms of knowledge including psychical research
