Bothered By Alligators:

Bothered By Alligators Marion Milner, 2013-03-01 Milner's final text Bothered by Alligators came about when in her nineties she unexpectedly came across a diary she had kept during the early years of her son's life recording his conversations and play between the ages of two and nine. With it was a storybook written and illustrated by him when he was about seven years old. Whilst working on the material Milner gradually realised that both diary and storybook were provoking questions she realised had scarcely been asked let alone answered in her own analysis. Through her memories, her notebooks and by interpreting her own previously discarded drawings and paintings she reaches a point of awareness that they were depicting things she did not know in herself, addressing her relationships not only with her son but also with her husband, her father and in particular her mother. Like many of Milner's earlier books, there is a deeply personal quality to Bothered by Alligators, but it is a quality that transcends the personal and reveals insights and conclusions that will be both interesting and useful to clinicians and fascinating to readers from a psychological, a literary, an artistic or an educational background and in particular those with an interest in psychoanalysis and autobiography and in Milner's work. The Marion Milner Method Emilia Halton-Hernandez, 2023-04-03 This book traces the development of British psychoanalyst Marion Milner's 1900-98 autobiographical acts throughout her lifetime, proposing that Milner is a thinker to whom we can turn to explore the therapeutic potentialities of autobiographical and creative self-expression. Milner's experimentation with aesthetic self-expressive techniques are a means to therapeutic ends, forming what Emilia Halton-Hernandez calls her autobiographical cure. This book considers whether Milner's work champions this site for therapeutic work over that of the relationship between patient and analyst in the psychoanalytic setting. This book brings to light a theory and practice which is latent and sometimes hidden but which is central to understanding what drives Milner's autobiographical work. It is by doing this work of elucidation and organisation that Halton-Hernandez finds Milner to be a thinker with a unique take on psychoanalysis, object relations theory, creativity and autobiography, working at the interstices of each. Divided into two fascinating sections exploring Milner's distinctive method and the legacy and influence of her work, this book will appeal to psychoanalysts, art therapists, philosophers and art and literary researchers alike. The Open Access version of this book is available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> and has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license. Psychoanalytic Memoirs Jeffrey Berman, 2022-11-17 The first book-length study of the psychoanalytic memoir, this book examines key examples of the genre, including Sigmund Freud's mistitled An Autobiographical Study, Helene Deutsch's Confrontations with Myself, an Epilogue, Wilfred Bion's War Memoirs 1917-1919, Masud Khan's The Long Wait, Sophie Freud's Living in the Shadow of the Freud Family, and Irvin D. Yalom and Marilyn Yalom's A Matter of Death and Life. Offering in each chapter a brief character sketch of the memoirist, the book shows how personal writing fits into their other work, often demonstrating the continuities and discontinuities in an author's life as well as discussing each author's
