Here's to Good Food Dan Peters, 2008-07 Food is often the centermost attraction when people gather for good cheer Breathing life into a party can be effected simply by injecting vibrancy into the gathering's fare On a day to day basis mundane menus all too often creep into prevalence An interminable cycle of meat loaf and canned peas can provoke one's palate to scream for the piquant Witness how adding wine to a dish creates elegance in an instant In a flash whiskey brings invigoration to any cuisine it encounters and food suddenly becomes fun with the infusion of a brew Teetotalers can take heart in the knowledge that in many recipes the alcohol dissipates in the cooking process leaving only a richly enhanced flavor in your meticulously prepared creation On the other hand if a ringing timer interrupts you in the middle of a nip pause and remember that the point is after all to savor the joys of indulgence A happy cook is a good cook Here's to good food Introduction

Good Spirits Gene Logsdon, 1999 With the recent burgeoning of microbreweries home breweries and boutique wineries it's only a matter of time until people start home distillation The technology has always been around and the urge to put one's own label on a bottle of whiskey may prove overwhelming to some So why aren't there any homemade whiskeys in the marketplace For openers it's against federal law It's also dangerous Stills create explosive gases Logsdon yearns for a nation of amateur distillers He recounts a family history of clandestine distilling and he offers delightful tales and anecdotal histories of home brewers wine makers and distillers Constructing a contrarian account of bootlegging during Prohibition he makes booze smuggling a cottage industry rather than a gang run criminal conspiracy Both funny and serious Logsdon's book will likely prove controversial too especially with those made uncomfortable by irony Mark Knoblach 240p
