American Notes for General Circulation Charles Dickens,2019-06-15 American Notes for General Circulation Charles Dickens 1812-1870 is best remembered today for the novels which offer a fantastic even grotesque panorama of Victorian life but he was a journalist before he became a novelist His travel writings have all the energy and urgency of journalism and these two volumes drawn from his experiences in a six month tour between January and June 1842 are no exception Dickens was already hugely popular with the American reading public and he was lionised wherever he went but the American Notes and the American scenes in Martin Chuzzlewit caused great controversy and were felt by many to insult the people and institutions of the United States Dickens's dedication of American Notes to those friends of mine in America who loving their country can bear the truth when it is told good humouredly and in a kind spirit suggests that he was not surprised by this reaction American Notes for General Circulation Charles Dickens,1875 American Notes Charles

Not illustrated. 1902. Excerpt: earth's radius of moon or other body P moon's horizontal parallax earth's angular semidiameter as seen from the moon f moon's angular semidiameter. Now P in circular measure r r in circular measure r r P or radius of earth radius of moon moon's parallax moon's semidiameter. Examples. 1. Taking the moon's horizontal parallax as 57' and its angular diameter as 32' find its radius in miles assuming the earth's radius to be 4000 miles. Here moon's semidiameter $16 \cdot 4000 \cdot 57' \cdot 16'' = 400 \cdot 16 \cdot 1123$ miles. 2. The sun's horizontal parallax being 88" and his angular diameter 32' find his diameter in miles. Am 872 727 miles. 3. The synodic period of Venus being 584 days find the angle gained in each minute of time on the earth round the sun as centre. Am 1 54 per minute. 4. Find the angular velocity with which Venus crosses the sun's disc assuming the distances of Venus and the earth from the sun are as 7 to 10 as given by Bode's Law. Since $\sin V \cdot VA = 7 \cdot 3$. But Sr has a relative angular velocity round the sun of 1 54 per minute see Example 3 therefore the relative angular velocity of $A \cdot V$ round A is greater than this in the ratio of 7 3 which gives an approximate result of 3 6 per minute the true rate being about 4 per minute. Annual Parallax 95. We have already seen that no displacement of the observer due to a change of position on the earth's surface could apparently affect the direction of a fixed star. However as the earth in its annual motion describes an orbit of about 92 million miles radius round the sun the different positions in space from which an observer views the fixed stars from time to time throughout the year must be separated

Nineteenth-Century British Travelers in the New World Christine DeVine, 2016-05-06 With cheaper publishing costs and the explosion of periodical publishing the influence of New World travel narratives was greater during the nineteenth century than ever before as they offered an understanding not only of America through British eyes but also a lens through which nineteenth century Britain could view itself Despite the differences in purpose and method the writers and artists discussed in Nineteenth Century British Travelers in the New World from Fanny Wright arriving in America in 1818 to the return of Henry James in 1904 and including Charles Dickens Frances Trollope Isabella Bird Fanny Kemble Harriet Martineau and Robert Louis Stevenson among others as well as artists such as Eyre Crowe all contributed to the continued building of America as a construct for audiences at home These travelers' stories and images thus presented an idea of America over which Britons could crow about their own supposed sophistication and a democratic model through which to posit their own future all of which suggests the importance of transatlantic travel writing and the idea of America to nineteenth century Britain
