American Stew Hope Toxic Culture:

American Stew Stephen James, 2015-11-25 America is in desperate need of new ideas In the richest most powerful nation in history Americans are profoundly troubled The level of fear anger and dissatisfaction with life in 21st century America is reflected in our many social ills and questionable national behavior exacerbated by the general lack of insight to explain what is wrong Where will the new ideas come from Cultural critic Stephen James offers a fresh perspective on the problems that plague America as well as much needed solutions By applying modern social science and interdisciplinary thought to contemporary American issues James offers a sweeping and relevant analysis of a culture that has become toxic for its members James proposes that our drive to become the most powerful nation on earth can be understood in terms of the theories of Ernest Becker Becker writes that all human beings dread death and all cultures have developed measures to deny death and create opportunities for immortality Unfortunately our culture offers an inadequate antidote to death anxiety pushing us to success as a nation while leaving us anxious driven and unhappy Our own culture has evolved to oppress and exploit us It is in a word toxic

Black France, White Europe Emily Marker, 2022-10-15 Winner of the George Louis Beer Prize Black France White Europe illuminates the deeply entangled history of European integration and African decolonization Emily Marker maps the horizons of belonging in postwar France as leaders contemplated the inclusion of France's old African empire in the new Europe in the making European integration intensified longstanding structural contradictions of French colonial rule in Africa Would Black Africans and Black African Muslims be French If so would they then also be European What would that mean for republican France and united Europe more broadly Marker examines these questions through the lens of youth amid a surprising array of youth and education initiatives to stimulate imperial renewal and European integration from the ground up She explores how education reforms and programs promoting solidarity between French and African youth collided with transnational efforts to make young people in Western Europe feel more European She connects a particular postwar vision for European unity which coded Europe as both white and raceless Christian and secular to crucial decisions about what should be taught in African classrooms and how many scholarships to provide young Africans to study and train in France That vision of Europe also informed French responses to African student activism for racial and religious equality which ultimately turned many young francophone Africans away from France irrevocably Black France White Europe shows that the interconnected history of colonial and European youth initiatives is key to explaining why despite efforts to strengthen ties with its African colonies in the 1940s and 1950s France became more European during those years
