PSpice for Analog Communications Engineering Paul Tobin,2007-06-01 In PSpice for Analog Communications Engineering we simulate the difficult principles of analog modulation using the superb free simulation software Cadence Orcad PSpice V10 5 While use is made of analog behavioral model parts ABM we use actual circuitry in most of the simulation circuits For example we use the 4 quadrant multiplier IC AD633 as a modulator and import real speech as the modulating source and look at the trapezoidal method for measuring the modulation index Modulation is the process of relocating signals to different parts of the radio frequency spectrum by modifying certain parameters of the carrier in accordance with the modulating information signals In amplitude modulation the modulating source changes the carrier amplitude but in frequency modulation it causes the carrier frequency to change and in phase modulation it's the carrier phase The digital equivalent of these modulation techniques are examined in PSpice for Digital communications Engineering where we examine QAM FSK PSK and variants We examine a range of oscillators and plot Nyquist diagrams showing the marginal stability of these systems The superhetrodyne principle the backbone of modern receivers is simulated using discrete components followed by simulating complete AM and FM receivers In this exercise we examine the problems of matching individual stages and the use of double tuned RF circuits to accommodate the large FM signal bandwidth Modern Quadrature Amplitude Modulation William Webb,Lajos Hanzo,1994 Quadrature electronic signals with an emphasis on their applications *Simulation of Performance of M-QAM Quadrature Amplitude Bernard Leerkens,2008 Quadrature Amplitude Modulation Lajos Hanzo,2004-11-30 Motivated by the rapid evolution of the consecutive generations of wireless communication systems this volume continues to provide an overview of the majority of single and multi carrier QAM techniques Now fully revised and updated with more than 300 pages of new material this new edition presents the wide range of recent developments in the field and places particular emphasis on the family of coded modulation aided OFDM and CDMA schemes In addition it also includes a fully revised chapter on adaptive modulation and a new chapter characterizing the design trade offs of adaptive modulation and space time coding Divided into four parts Part I commences with a historical perspective and classic schemes for the uninitiated Part II offers a deep discourse on adaptive QAM arrangements that have found their way also into the 3G system's High Speed Data Packet Access HSDPA mode Part III details the advanced intricacies of adaptive versus space time block and trellis coded OFDM and MC CDMA Part IV contains previously unpublished new research results It commences with a theoretical chapter on the capacity of wireless channels The discussions then continue by contriving sophisticated iterative coded modulation systems such as TCM TTTCM BICM BICM ID designed for turbo detected QAM based space time coded OFDM and CDMA systems operating over wireless channels In summary this volume amalgamates a comprehensive textbook with a deep research monograph on the topic of QAM ensuring it has a wide ranging appeal for both senior undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as practicing engineers and researchers

Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science, 2011 The MIT iLab Project has developed online laboratories iLabs which are lab stations that can be accessed and controlled remotely over the Internet With iLabs students can conduct real experiments on real equipment over the Internet With the introduction of the National Instrument s Educational Laboratory Virtual Instrument Suite NI ELVIS in the development of iLabs students to gain a better understanding of engineering concepts by obtaining real data from electronic labs One of such crucial engineering concepts is telecommunications which plays a key role in transmitting information between people systems and computers There are many telecommunication schemes which exist today The iLab developed in this thesis implements an experiment for studying one of such schemes Amplitude Modulation The NI ELVIS is used together with a device called the Emona Digital and Analog Telecommunications Experimenter DATEx to achieve the Amplitude Modulation lab setup This iLab is an Interactive iLab which gives one student at a time complete real time control over the lab set up The Amplitude Modulation iLab will permit students to tune various controls and observe the behavior and changes of relevant signals both in time domain and frequency domain It will also permit students to compare different signals and retrieve data locally for post processing

Predistortion of Quadrature Amplitude Modulation Signals Using Volterra Series

Approximation Michael T. Donovan, 1996-12-01 Modern digital communication systems are being called upon to move ever increasing amounts of information over decreasingly available bandwidth This requires that communication systems employ bandwidth efficient modulation schemes to conserve bandwidth while moving the information at higher data rates A major stumbling block to using higher order modulation schemes in long haul communication is the distortion caused by high power amplifiers These high power amplifiers are required to amplify the signal power to a level that will allow distant receivers to correctly demodulate and decode the information The distortion caused by the high power amplifiers can render a modulation scheme unusable due to the high symbol error rates which result from the extensive skewing of the modulation scheme s signal constellation This thesis details a predistortion technique using Volterra series approximation techniques to model the inverse of the high power amplifier s distortion characteristics A 64 Quadrature Amplitude Modulation 64 QAM system incorporating a predistorter is used to demonstrate the ability to achieve acceptable bit error rates The implementation of the inverse model and the communication system is performed in MATLAB The results show the viability of predistortion of digital data to allow the higher order modulation schemes to be incorporated into communication schemes
