

CHAPTER 7 – GOVERNMENT POLICY AND INTERNATIONAL TRADE

INTRODUCTION

- Free trade: refers to a situation where a government does not attempt to restrict what its citizens can buy from another country or what they can sell to another country
  - o Many nations are nominally committed to free trade
  - o Nations tend to intervene in international trade to protect the interests of politically important groups
  - o Even countries and economic unions at the front of free trade promotion have their own protectionist measures
    - US Chicken tax, Sugar tax
    - EU quotas to agricultural products
- There are several instruments of trade policy utilized by governments
  - o They may constraint international trade
  - o May increase the cost of foreign products to protect producers or manufactures
    - Reducing imports
  - o May decrease the cost of local products to protect consumers
    - Impeding exports
  - o Imposing non-trade barriers
    - Prohibitively expensive standards
  - o May facilitate international trade in unfair ways
    - Increasing competitiveness not on efficiency grounds
      - Promoting exports

INSTRUMENTS OF TRADE POLICY

1. Tariffs: a tax levied on imports that effectively raises the cost of imported products relative to domestic products
  - Effects: (unambiguously pro-producer and anti-consumer)
    - o Increase government revenues
    - o Provide protection to domestic producers against foreign competitors by increasing the cost of imported foreign goods
    - o Force consumers to pay more for certain imports
  - Tariffs and detractions (unambiguously pro-consumer and anti-producer)
    - o Detractions: tax levied on exports that effectively drops the price of the product sold in the country
    - o As tariffs, they increase government revenues, protect domestic consumers, but make producers not competitive in the world
2. Subsidies: government payment to domestic producers
  - They help domestic producers
    - o Compete against low-cost foreign imports
      - Difficult to control
    - o Gain export markets
      - Difficult to implement without retaliation
