Tradition in Transition Mark J. Boda, Michael Floyd, 2008-10-15 Hebrew tradition presents Haggai and Zechariah as prophetic figures arising in the wake of the Babylonian exile with an agenda of restoration for the early Persian period community in Yehud. This agenda however was not original to these prophets but rather drawn from the earlier traditions of Israel. In recent years there has been a flurry of scholarly attention on the relationship between these Persian period prophets and the earlier traditions with a view to the ways in which these prophets draw on earlier tradition in innovative ways. It is time to take stock of these many contributions and provide a venue for dialogue and evaluation. Heavenly Perspective Ian Smith, 2006-06-28 This book identifies the source of the Colossian error as from within Jewish mystical movements and shows how both the theology and practice which is taught in the epistle is to be understood from this context. The book gives a helpful overview of scholarship that has attempted to identify the nature and source of the Colossian error. The book unlike many others on the topic is exegetically driven and will model thorough and careful exegetical practice. The book interacts with extra Biblical texts which help the reader to understand the mystical contexts of first century Judaism.
