

Cladograms for Tetrapoda

provides hypothesized evolutionary among a group of species based on early and derived characters.

CHARTER

As a cluster is a group of components, which often don't share the same characteristics, observed clusters are a common approximation. In other words, some clusters include more than one feature of a mechanism and other components which aren't necessarily part of that mechanism. These components cluster around the main mechanism, and therefore, are called spurious or noise clusters.
